

Battlefield Accidents Kill 12 Americans

SAIGON (UPI)—An American helicopter hit by Communist gunfire fell into a column of U.S. troops today, killing three of them in the second battlefield accident in two days. Nine Americans were killed when a U.S. tank opened fire on them.

War communiques said today at least 32 Americans had been killed and 75 wounded in fighting across Vietnam in the past 24 hours.

A UH1 helicopter hit by groundfire crashed into troops of the 4th Infantry Division near An Khe, 240 miles northeast of Saigon. Three U.S. troops were killed and six wounded although the three men in the helicopter escaped injury.

A U.S. tank accidentally opened fire on troops of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division during a Communist attack Tuesday on an outpost 60 miles north of Saigon. Nine Americans were killed and five injured.

The Soviet Union has all but backed out of efforts to mediate peace in Vietnam. Story on page 3.

Eight Americans including a news photographer were killed in the crash Tuesday of an Army UH1 helicopter west of Tam Ky, near Da Nang.

The U.S. Command said the helicopter carried four crewmen, three U.S. Army passengers and Oliver Noonan, 29, of Norwood, Mass., a photographer for the Associated Press. Noonan was the 23rd news correspondent to be killed in the Vietnam War.

The U.S. Americal Division which killed 155 North Vietnamese soldiers in two all-day battles Monday near Da Nang halted two Communist assaults on an outpost west of Tam Ky Tuesday night.

None of the Communist troops made it through the barbed wire surrounding the camp but the attacks killed one American and wounded 14 others, the U.S. command said. They killed 45 North Vietnamese.

New fighting broke out today in the area between Saigon and the Cambodian border. The action included a battle between 1st Cavalry Division troops and North Vietnamese forces 67 miles north of Saigon. The Americans killed 10 North Vietnamese and one American was killed. A mile away, Communist troops fired five 122mm rockets into another 1st Air Cavalry camp. U.S. casualties were described as light.

Noonan was accompanying his third combat assault of the day when the helicopter was hit.

Noonan had formerly worked for the Boston Globe and the Boston Herald-Traveler.

In a battle near Go Dau Ha, 32 miles northwest of Saigon, American troops fought Communist forces from armored personnel carriers and called in help from U.S. Air Force Phantom jets and Supersabre jets, helicopter gunships and artillery in a five-hour battle.

Marines killed 12 Communist troops who attacked a U.S. camp seven miles southwest of Da Nang. The Marines suffered 14 wounded.

Death Toll of Hurricane Feared as High as 1,000

PASS CHRISTIAN, Miss. (UPI)—Rescuers carried out a slow search today in mud and rubble for hundreds of bodies believed buried in the debris left by Hurricane Camille, whose 190-mile-an-hour winds spread destruction across a 600-square-mile area.

Officials said 163 bodies have been found so far. They predicted the final death toll would be much higher—possibly 1,000.

Rescue work also involved killing of hundreds of snakes, some of them poisonous, washed into the area by floodtides.

The death toll from Camille was the highest from a hurricane in the United States since Audrey killed 430 persons in Texas and Louisiana in 1957. The worst hurricane in the United States struck the Galveston, Tex. area Sept. 8, 1900, killing an estimated 5,000 persons. The nation's second worst killer hit New England Sept. 21, 1938 and killed 600.

Col. Miller Dent, Mississippi Civil Defense director, said there were large areas in Pass Christian and Long Beach rescue teams were just beginning to explore three days after the disaster.

Wade Guice, Harrison County Civil Defense director, said "I wouldn't be surprised if we have a thousand casualties." In his area, which includes Pass Christian, Gulfport and Biloxi—the hardest hit towns—"We are now finding them (bodies) in groups."

Mississippi Gov. John Bell Williams said "some estimate the death rate could go above 500 and possibly reach 1,000."

More than 200,000 persons were homeless from Alabama to Louisiana. Some towns were virtually wiped out by Camille and the giant tides she brought.

Williams said the damage could run "in excess of $500 million and, perhaps, go beyond $1 billion."

Williams accompanies Vice President Spiro T. Agnew on a helicopter inspection of the area today. Agnew is making the tour on orders from President Nixon, who already has declared the Mississippi coast a disaster area and authorized $1 million in relief funds.

The Red Cross said it was caring for more than 40,000 refugees in shelters in the disaster area.

Robert M. Pierpont, national director of Red Cross Disaster Services said the organization has counted nearly 2,000 homes destroyed and another 2,000 with major damage.

"God, it was awful," said Wilma McCune, a Pass Christian resident who with 500 other persons covered in the high school gymnasium at the height of the hurricane. The gym began creaking ominously and the refugees all rushed into the main school building only minutes before the gym roof collapsed.

Mrs. McCune said the water poured into the main building and "we who had babies had to hold them up on that ledge over the blackboard to keep them from drowning because the water was rising so fast."

"You know what was really bad? All those babies in here crying. They didn't want to die."

In Pass Christian, 23 persons tried to weather the storm in the Richelieu apartments, a brick building by the gulf which had withstood earlier storms.

Food and medical supplies

None survived.

Bulldozers and other heavy equipment were moved into the area Tuesday, but searchers generally had to go into towns on foot to clear away debris before the motorized units could be brought up. The task was time consuming, and hampered earlier in the day by sightseers.

Limited martial law was proclaimed to keep down the crowds and prevent looting. A force of 4,000 National Guardsmen acted as policemen.

Food and medical supplies

were flown in by giant transports from Atlanta. Fresh water was at a premium, as was milk.

Dry ice and French bread were rushed to Bay St. Louis from New Orleans. A light plane, carrying penicillin and other medical supplies to Gulfport, crashed at a New Orleans airport, killing a doctor and three other occupants.

Power was out along much of the coast. Few telephones worked.

Most of the bodies were being airlifted to Hattiesburg, 70 miles from the coast.

Prague Tense on Anniversary

PRAGUE (UPI)—Police used tear gas again today and broke up gatherings of young Czechoslovaks moving into Wenceslas Square to observe the first anniversary of the Soviet invasion of their country. There were similar disturbances Tuesday night.

Riot police and army troops guarded central Prague against any renewed demonstrations in the square where they broke up gatherings Tuesday by using teargas, clubs, armored cars and waterhoses against a crowd estimated at 5,000.

Young Czechoslovaks began gathering at the square at noon today and police stepped in immediately and hurled tear gas bombs. They arrested seven men who refused to leave the square and dragged them into one of Prague's red and white city buses for questionings.

Within five minutes peace was restored and police did not rush reinforcements to the scene. Observers said the tear gas capsules were much weaker than those used Tuesday night and that after 15 minutes the acrid smell had worn off. Last night it was different.

The protesters shouted "Nazis!" and "Gestapo!" as police fired volley after volley of tear gas into the predominantly young crowd. Those slow to respond were kicked or beaten on the head with clubs.

Police gained control of the eight-block long square only about midnight. Tear gas still hung in the air early today.

Busloads of police remained in the square and army patrols helped watch other streets.

The tension had built slowly during the day Tuesday in the area Prague residents regard as their Freedom Square. At first the crowd numbered only a few hundred. They watched as police shoved back a young boy trying to place a red flower at the Wenceslas statue.

As the evening rush hour approached the crowds grew larger until an estimated 10,000 persons gathered around the statue of Good King Wenceslas, Czechoslovakia's age-old symbol of resistance.

Soon helicopters were whirling overhead and shortly after 5 p.m., armored personnel carriers rolled into the square. White-helmeted riot police poured out of buses and cordoned off the statue, forcing the crowd back.

The situation eased for a period and some of the police left. But a short while later they returned when the crowd began shouting and pushing toward the statue. The police charged and, without warning, fired at least 50 tear gas cartridges—about 40 directly into the crowd.

Dozens of persons were arrested; there was no official report on their number. Ambulances were seen in the area but there was no official word on injuries. Police repeatedly charged the demonstrators throughout the rest of the evening.

Some youths vowed to return today to stand vigil for countrymen killed during last year's fighting. It was in Wenceslas Square that young and old rallied on the night of Aug. 20-21, 1968, to curse, jeer and spit at invading Soviet tanks.

Carey's Spanish Lawyer Seeks Suspended Sentence

By JON POWERS

WASHINGTON—Spanish defense attorneys for John Carey, 22, of West Shokan and four companions, arrested near Madrid for allegedly insulting the Spanish flag, have applied for a suspension of sentence before a Spanish Court of Public Order, officials at the State Department here announced today.

Ambula Moss of the Spanish Desk at the State Department has confirmed reports to The Freeman that the five youths, all cadets at New York State Maritime Academy in the Bronx, had been officially sentenced to a term of six months and one day in a Spanish federal prison.

Prospects that the five youths, who arrived in Spain in May aboard the college's training ship, will be released appear good, said Moss who noted that a suspension of sentence in cases similar to this is normal.

Moss added that the Spanish Court in Madrid is expected to act on the application for suspension of the sentence within the next several days.

State Department officials, meanwhile, are continuing to negotiate in the cadets' behalf. The possibility of a formal American apology has been considered, although the Spanish government has not yet asked for one.

Washington officials report that the five students are getting the best possible representation. After the youths were arrested, the American embassy in Madrid drew up a list of attorneys available to handle the case.

The five cadets interviewed each of the attorneys in their Madrid jail cell and finally selected a professor of law at the University of Madrid and one of the leading criminal lawyers in Spain. One of his law partners is also working on the case. The cadets were arrested in Alicante on May 21 and tried in Madrid on August 12. Moss explained that the time span between arrest and trial was normal for cases of this nature.

He added that the Spanish court had convened for the summer recess and had to be reconvened to handle the special case. If suspension of the sentence is granted, the five cadets must still face officials at the college when they return.

Arthur Richter, public information officer at the Maritime Academy, said this morning, "There is bound to be some disciplinary action, although it

Two of the five escaped custody and one is still missing, according to Chief Constable William E. Waterous. The other fugitive was later apprehended by deputy sheriffs.

Waterous went to the cemetery with the superintendent, under arrest on trespassing charges. They were booked as John Payne and Todd Orwyez of New York City, Debra Wright, of Plymouth, Mass., and Mario Suarez, also of New York. They are all 17.

Waterous said Orwyez had two cats with him. As he walked toward the rear door of the police station he reached to pick up one of the felines. Instead of returning he fled on foot. The other three were held, and a warrant was obtained for the fugitive, who was later nabbed on Route 28 by sheriff's men.

The trio had no money and were committed to jail. The alarm sent out for Orwyez was received by Deputy Sheriff's Jerry Miller and Stephen Rosenstein, who spotted the fugitive as he was walking along Route 28 in Boiceville. Orwyez was taken into custody and booked for resisting arrest. He was committed to jail pending hearing before Judge Leacycraft.

Dutchess County Fair Livestock on Parade

Sleek cows are led to livestock judging tents by proud young owners as the Dutchess County Fair got off to a grand start yesterday. First day attendance at the Rhinebeck fairgrounds topped all previous records at 20,525 persons. Today's figures are expected to go even higher with cooler temperatures and sunny skies making for an ideal fair day. Highlight of today's events will be a visit from the New York State Dairy Princess at the evening grandstand show. Band concerts, dancing waters show and a multitude of exhibits are planned for this second day which has been designated Welcome Neighbor Day. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Reapport Committee Holds Buffalo Session

KINGSTON Assemblyman H. Clark Bell, recently named acting chairman of the public hearings of the Joint Legislative Committee on Reapportionment, reported today on the outcome of Tuesday's session at Buffalo.

Testifying were representatives of congressional districts from western New York and Congressman Jonathan Bingham of the Bronx as well as representatives of civic organizations and private citizens of the Buffalo area.

A powerful joint legislative committee on reapportionment must draw new district lines for all of New York State's 41 Congressional Districts in time for the 1970 general election, Bell explained.

Steven Berger of Congressman Bingham's office urged the committee to draw district lines along community interest lines, taking into consideration socio-economic conditions and other considerations which identify a particular geographical area as a homogeneous unit.

Assemblyman Bell said such a realignment might necessitate drastic changes in the existing congressional districts.

Previously public hearings were held in Brooklyn, Harlem, Albany and Mineola, L. I. Bell pointed out that this is the first time in the history of the state that public hearings have been conducted on the important issue of redistricting.

Some witnesses asked the committee to consider ethnic gerrymandering in creating

Recommendations in Effect At Time of County Jail Death

By SHANE CROSBY

KINGSTON County District Attorney James Fisher said today some procedures recommended by the State Board of Correction following the death of William Bailey in the Ulster County Jail in March were in effect at the time of Albert Tyler's death Tuesday.

Fisher said Tyler's shoe strings and his belt had been removed from the man when placed in his cell. "Of course you can't take all their clothes away," he said. Tyler, 38, was found dead in his "bullpen" cell in the jail, hanging by his shirt.

Coroner William S. Keyser ruled the death a suicide and said, as in the Bailey case, it was caused by asphyxiation due to strangulation. The only apparent difference in the two cases is that Bailey hanged himself with a belt while Tyler used his shirt.

Fisher, acting DA in the absence of Joseph Torracca, said a "routine investigation" is being conducted by his office to determine if "foul play" was involved, but he said there is "apparently no question about it."

Meanwhile in Albany, Assistant Correction Commissioner George Venter said Tuesday his office received a report of the suicide by telephone from Kingston Police who have jurisdiction over the four-cell "bullpen" in the county jail. Venter said other reports are expected today and Thursday before the state begins its investigation.

According to state figures, Kingston's two jail cell suicides this year equal one half of the state-wide total for 1968 in villages, towns, and local police lockups outside of New York City. Of 90,286 men held in such jails, four took their own lives and seven other attempts were made.

Venter said the state's interest is "the protection of each and every prisoner." He said he agreed with comments made by a correction commission, dictates individual procedures. City police say they check cells every hour on the half hour in the "bullpen." Tyler listed at least three addresses to police and parole officers. None have been called and one is said to be a building that was demolished by work crews. He was on three year probation following an April 18 charge of possession of stolen property. Tyler last reported to his probation office on Aug. 5 and was said to be working at the Holiday Inn as a dishwasher, but records also list his occupation as "a painter." "He was reported in," said a jail last Thursday to replace the first step in replacement, urged by Sheriff William B. Martin who oversees the present operation.

N. Ireland Protestants Condemn Concessions Given to Catholics

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Leading Protestants in Northern Ireland today condemned sweeping concessions made by their government to the province's Roman Catholic minority.

Two former Cabinet ministers said there would be a powerful demand for Prime Minister James Chichester-Clark's government to resign.

Some Catholic leaders were more favorable, but hardliners stuck to their demands for dismissal of Chichester-Clark's government and negotiations to unite Protestant-dominated Northern Ireland with the Catholic Irish Republic.

British Prime Minister Harold Wilson and Chichester-Clark wrangled in London for six hours Tuesday night before agreeing on a five-point peace plan designed to end the religious warfare between Northern Ireland's Protestant majority and its Catholic minority.

The Five Points:

1. The British army takes control of all Northern Ireland's security forces. The force of Protestant police reserves known as the B-Specials, the chief object of Catholic hatred, will be moved out of the cities, and the British army commander in Northern Ireland, Gen. Sir Ian Freeland, will control their arms.

2. Discrimination due to religion or political beliefs will end.

3. Two senior British civil servants will be named advisers to the Ulster government.

4. An amnesty for citizens handing in illegal arms.

5. An impartial investigation into the riots and religious battling last week.

Chichester-Clark said he was "entirely favorable" to the agreement and had himself suggested the changes. But political insiders said the acceptance of British advisers and of British control of the security forces was an admission that the local government had done a poor job and couldn't guarantee order.

Among the first to criticize were two leaders of Chichester-Clark's Unionist party, which dominates politics in Northern Ireland.

Hard words came from the Rev. Ian Paisley, the Protestant firebrand, who said Wilson "has capitulated to the hierarchy of the Roman Catholic Church. . . . Ulster Protestants must now join themselves together as their fathers did in 1912, and the God of their fathers will not fail in this hour of crisis."

From the Catholic side, Frank Gogarty, chairman of the Northern Ireland Civil Rights Association, said the provincial government should be suspended.

There was no immediate official comment from the Irish Republic, whose request for a peace force to keep order in Ulster was scheduled to go before the U.N. Security Council today.

But Britain was reported within one vote of having enough to keep the council from debating the situation in Northern Ireland. A British government declaration issued after Wilson and Chichester-Clark met, emphatically stated Northern Ireland will remain part of the United Kingdom until its voters decide otherwise.

"The border is not in issue,"

it stated.

For the first time since the street fighting last week, it was possible Tuesday night to drive through much of Belfast's center. The sole army roadblocks were in Catholic Falls Road, and they were there only because a wall of a large building threatened to collapse.

ARRIVES FOR TALKS — North Ireland Premier James Chichester-Clark arrives at No. 10 Downing St. in London for talks with British Prime Minister Harold Wilson. Northern Ireland, which was on the brink of civil war a few days ago, was also the subject discussed by Wilson in an emergency session of his cabinet, prior to his meeting with Chichester-Clark. Northern Ireland spent a third trouble-free night and Catholic and Protestant vigilantes patrolled the streets to enforce the uneasy peace. (UPI CABLEPHOTO).

Emergency State Continues In Some Areas of Niagara Falls

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP)

Two predominantly Negro areas of this city were under an around-the-clock state of emergency today as police sought to prevent a fourth straight night of violence.

Fire bombs damaged a community center and the administration building of a public housing project Tuesday night.

Two policemen were burned slightly when a fire bomb was dropped at their feet from a building.

Four persons were arrested after gangs of Negro youths roamed the streets smashing windows and tossing fire bombs.

One of those arrested was a white man who police said carried a shotgun and 45 shells in his car. He was charged with disorderly conduct and resisting arrest.

Remain in Effect

City Manager Donald J. O'Hara, who had declared states of emergency Sunday and Monday nights and rescinded them at 5:30 a.m. the following mornings, said the emergency declared Tuesday night would remain in effect indefinitely.

Curfews would go into effect automatically each night at 9 p. m. and be lifted at 5:30 a.m. as long as the emergency lasts, he said.

During the curfew, Deputy Police Chief James Gorman said, all businesses would be closed and persons found on the streets would be subject to arrest.

The affected areas are a 14-block tract along East Falls Street, near the downtown section, and a 40 block triangular section on the North Side about 1½ miles away.

Tuesday night's violence lasted less than two hours.

"It takes us that long to sweep the streets clear of people once a state of emergency is declared," Gorman said.

Several vacant houses were targets for fire bombs, but firemen did not respond to those alarms because no nearby property or lives were in danger.

The two policemen, John J. O'Donnell, 32, and Richard A. Callari, 23, both rookies on the city force, suffered minor facial burns and returned to duty after medical treatment.

200 Policemen

A force of nearly 200 policemen were brought in to the disturbance areas. They included 50 members of the Niagara County Sheriff's Tactical Patrol Unit, outfitted in lead-lined jump suits and totting shotguns.

In three nights of violence about 40 persons have been arrested and 14 injured.

No estimates of the damage were available.

Minor disturbances were also reported in Syracuse Tuesday night. Police said most of the trouble came from youths who bombarded passing cars with rocks and bottles.

The situation was under control by early this morning, police said.

See No Intention by Kremlin To Push for Viet Mediation

LONDON (UPI)—The Soviet Union has all but backed out of any mediation effort in Hanoi, diplomatic sources said today.

Well-informed Communist diplomats said there is nothing for Moscow to do in the current state of the Vietnam War and negotiations in Paris.

They let it be clearly understood the Kremlin now has no intention of taking any diplomatic initiative or pushing toward partial withdrawal of American forces were brushed aside as "insignificant or outright meaningless."

The withdrawal offered by

Washington, diplomatic informants argued the United States

at the same time was arming

South Vietnam and reinforcing

it with the clear intention to make it strong enough to do the job the Americans have been doing.

They countered Western charges that Moscow is continuing to pour large quantities of arms into North Vietnam with the argument the United States is supplying weapons to the South

Vietnamese.

The Soviets evidently are aware of American criticism of Moscow's Vietnam policy and of the absence of Russian goodwill to help in the stalemate peace effort.

Western diplomatic quarters

have been arguing Moscow

could have been helpful lately

by both pressuring Hanoi politically and, more convincingly, by scaling down its massive arms deliveries which are boosting Hanoi's defiant posture.

The Communist diplomats

left little doubt that at least for the present the Kremlin has chosen a wait-and-see strategy in the Vietnam peace efforts.

The move is believed part of the current Soviet policy of refraining from major commitments on key East-West and international issues.

Burglars, Stickup Men Very Unpopular in Watts

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Everywhere you look in Watts these days you see a car bumper sticker saying, "Another Family Against Crime."

Eventually, the more sensitive burglars and stickup men may get the idea that they are unpopular in the predominantly

Negro area torn by massive rioting in 1965.

And that, says the Rev.

Claude Evans of Truth Baptist Church, is precisely the idea.

The purpose of the stickers,

he says, is to "show the criminal the community won't tolerate him."

Within three weeks, 10,000 of the stickers have been distributed to residents of the Watts area. This week, 12,000 more are available at Los Angeles police stations and neighborhood churches.

The slogan was the brainchild of a committee composed of police officers, the Rev. Mr.

Evans and members of his church.

"The congregation," he says,

"wanted to do something to bring down the crime rate. We decided the stickers might be a way to do it."

"The stickers show a healthy attitude," says Police Lt. Don

Briggs. "The only way to beat crime is for citizens and police to work together."

Asked why a bumper sticker was chosen to make the point,

the minister said:

"It's psychological really."

The first run of stickers—about 3,000, all handed out in five days—were printed at a cost of $275, most of it donated by police. Since then private groups have begun providing funds for the bumper campaign.

Haynsworth Meets Demands for Court Appointment

WASHINGTON (AP) — The genteel background and cautious judicial record of Clement Furman Haynsworth Jr. suggest he will operate as a restraining force on the Supreme Court.

He meets the stated and unstated standards of President Nixon and Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell for lifetime appointment to the highest court in the land.

Like Warren E. Burger, the new chief justice, Haynsworth is experienced, undramatic, conservative and evidently reluctant to embark on judicial adventures.

In the past, once placed on the high court, judges often have discovered within themselves a long-dormant spirit of inventiveness—to the consternation of their presidents.

If Judge Haynsworth makes such a discovery it will be a vast surprise to those familiar with his record.

In 12 years on the U. S. Circuit Court at Richmond, Va., Haynsworth has shown flashes of judicial independence but done little to disturb the status quo. The convicted usually remained convicted—which must be cheering news to "law and order" proponents and critics of the Supreme Court.

Tradition-Minded

A fifth-generation Greenville,

S. C., lawyer who cultivates mellows and favors symphonic music, Haynsworth is tradition-minded.

Dissenting in 1962 from a major school desegregation order, he wrote feelingly of the "practical, difficult problems" school boards encounter in adopting an attendance system that "counters social customs and patterns of conduct, which, over a period of centuries, have become deeply ingrained in a people."

Charges by some civil rights leaders that Haynsworth is a segregationist appear, on the record, to be more rhetoric than fact. He has voted to enforce the Supreme Court's 1954 school desegregation decision. And yet, he has also supported freedom-of-choice attendance plans that represent only grudgingly acceptance of that decision.

The important thing, to Haynsworth, is that the pupil and parent really exercised a free choice of schools. The important thing to the Supreme Court has been whether the plan is the most effective way to break down segregation.

The difference could be negligible in what the court usually is unanimous in its school decisions. But Haynsworth could be of vast influence as the court considers racial barriers in social clubs and the unintentional school segregation that is based on "de facto" segregation of big city neighborhoods.

Haynsworth's record points in apparently contradictory directions.

In 1963 he dissented from a circuit court ruling that a federally aided hospital could not exclude Negro physicians or patients. He doubted that a grant to a private hospital brought the 14th amendment's anti-discrimination principles into play.

But two years later Haynsworth ordered the integration of the North Carolina Dental Society.

Conservatives are likely to appreciate Haynsworth's presence on the court particularly when the judges grapple with criminal law.

Fortas, the man he replaces, was one of the five justice who discerned in the Fifth Amendment the right of a suspect to remain silent under police questioning and to have a lawyer at his side. Warren was another of the five.

Fortas, moreover, was developing into the court's foremost theoretician in the criminal field. He liberalized the law's attitude toward juvenile offenders and narrowly lost a similar drive to change its view of alcoholics.

Haynsworth could serve to restrain this trend.

Record Speaks

There is much in Haynsworth's record to suggest he will adhere to the hard line favored by the President and attorney general.

In 1964, for example, he ruled a confession obtained from a rape-murder suspect could be used at trial, though the confession came only after the man had been held 16 days without seeing a lawyer or visitors.

A year earlier, he objected to application of the constitution's ban on unreasonable police searches to old state cases.

And in 1966—in a move eventually upheld by the Supreme Court—he expanded the power of police to search a man's home for evidence.

On the other hand, in 1966 and 1967 Haynsworth pioneered in opening the federal courts to habeas corpus appeals from state prisoners.

Polanski Recalls Final Talk With Sharon Prior to Tragedy

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Roman Polanski telephoned his wife Sharon Tate from London Aug. 8 and she had no premonition that a few hours later she would die with her four guests in a macabre mass murder.

Polanski, the brilliant Polish film director who made "Rosemary's Baby," said Miss Tate talked of trivialities when he called her "a few hours before the tragedy occurred."

"She wanted to know if I wanted a birthday party (Polanski was 36 Monday). I said, yes, let's hold one. She said a little kitten had come in from the hills and she was trying to feed it with an eye dropper," Polanski said.

"There was no indication of a party that evening. There wasn't any party that evening," Polanski recounted his last talk with his wife at a news conference Tuesday called because of the "unbearable and horrible things" said about her. Blinking back tears and sometimes breaking into sobs, Polanski related what he believed were the circumstances of the deaths at the secluded Benedict Canyon estate leased by him and his wife. Miss Tate did not use drugs, he said, although two of the victims, Voytek Frokowsky and Jay Sebring, were known to smoke marijuana. "Sharon didn't use drugs, she didn't touch alcohol, she didn't even smoke cigarettes," Polanski said.

Frokowsky once brought a man to a party at the home who became so objectionable he had to be thrown out. Polanski gave the name to the police but not to newsmen.

Was a Constant Party

"There was a lot of talk about parties in our home," he said. "They are true. There was a constant party. There wasn't an evening without friends."

He said marijuana was smoked at the home by guests but he didn't think it was out of the ordinary among their circle of Hollywood friends.

He said of his wife: "All of you know how beautiful she was. She was one of the most beautiful women—if not the most beautiful woman—in the world."

"But few of you know how good she was. She was vulnerable. She couldn't refuse any friendship."

Tearful

In a statement at the Beverly Wilshire Hotel in Los Angeles, director Roman Polanski (left photo) tells newsmen that his wife, actress Sharon Tate, was a sensitive and vulnerable woman who made friends with everyone. The strain on Polanski was evident as he was in tears several times while reading the statement. Polanski did not cast any light upon why his beautiful wife and four others were slain. Democrats in Virginia Tap Battle for Governor

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI)—William C. Battle, the former U.S. ambassador to Australia, tapped by conservatives to unify Virginia's shattered Democratic party, was nominated for governor Tuesday in the first statewide runoff election ever held in the commonwealth.

Small-town attorney Andrew P. Miller of Abingdon spoiled the old guard's only hope of having at least token representation on the November general election ballot, however, by winning the Democratic nomination for attorney general over Guy O. Farley.

Battle, a Charlottesville attorney, and Miller join state Sen. J. Sargeant Reynolds of Richmond, the Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, in shaping a fall ticket which faces the Republicans' most ambitious bid to win Virginia's Statehouse since the turn of the century.

Reynolds, 33-year-old heir to the Reynolds aluminum fortune, was nominated overwhelmingly in a bitter July 15 primary. The first election produced a defeat for the political heirs of the late Sen. Harry F. Byrd Sr., D-Va.

With 98 per cent of the returns counted in the govern-nor's race, Battle had 228,887 votes to 206,838 for his flamboyant opponent, state Sen. Henry Howell of Norfolk, who had promised to "keep the big boys honest" if elected. Battle had 52.5 per cent of the vote to 47.5 per cent for Howell.

Age of Aquarius Did Not Dawn in Wallkill

By BRUCE KAUFMAN

TOWN OF WALLKILL — This Orange County township is peaceful and quiet today because, about a month ago, local officials disallowed the promoters of the Woodstock Music and Art Fair to develop a festival site on an industrial park here.

The festival, which was subsequently held on a dairy farm in the Town of Bethel, Sullivan County, was slated as three days of music and peace, but became at best, a peaceful chaotic fiasco.

"I think we were vindicated," one Wallkill resident told The Freeman. We opposed the festival because we felt the planning was inadequate and I think that everything that has happened has proved us to be right."

Dennis Cosgrove, who was co-chairman of a citizen's committee in Wallkill, which was instrumental in blocking the development of the site there said that the problems which contributed to the near disaster in Bethel, would have been even more acute at the Wallkill location.

He noted that the Wallkill site, located on the Mills Industrial Park, near the hamlet of Scotchtown, was only 200 acres, while the Bethel site was 600 acres and that the factors of being opposed to the flower of sanitation, health, water, and especially traffic would have been "more critical" in Wallkill.

Cosgrove's committee, the Concerned Citizens of Wallkill, led the fight against the Scotch site by submitting petitions bearing more than 2500 signatures to town officials. Subsequently, at a public meeting of the Wallkill Zoning Board of Appeals, a request by the festival's promoters for a "special use permit" was turned down and several days later the festival was moved to Bethel.

"We were constantly accused of being opposed to the flower of children," Cosgrove said, "but at all times our only concern was for the welfare of everybody, which we felt was not being adequately provided for."

Joseph Owen, attorney for the Town of Wallkill, who was in the center of the legal maneuvering, said that by restraining the festival the town was exercising "its responsibility as a governing body."

Owen said that "no matter how small, a governing body must govern, because it retains the ultimate concern for the people."

The attorney added that this fact was demonstrated by the events surrounding the festival itself, because "while private enterprise created the monster, it took a combined effort by many governmental agencies to bring the monster under control."

The promoters of the festival, claim that their eviction from Wallkill was one of the primary reasons for the chaotic outcome of the affair.

Shortly after their move to Bethel, the principals of Woodstock Ventures filed suit against the Town of Wallkill in the New York State Supreme Court for damages resulting from the eleventh hour move.

Neither town officials nor the Concerned Citizens of Wallkill have acknowledged receipt of these legal papers.

Both Cosgrove and Owen feel that the promoters themselves, and from border to border, but everything went to pot."

the Town of Wallkill, are apparently weren't able to handle crowds that they mobilized," Cosgrove said.

"They over-advertised the festival from coast to coast; security fell through and that the promoters themselves, and from border to border, but everything went to pot."

DISILLUSIONED — Two festival returnees arrive in New York's bus terminal after giving up on the rain drenched scene of the Aquarian Rock Explosion near White Lake. Enormous crowds estimated as high as 450,000 wallowed in mud as doctors were flown in and emergency food supplies were airlifted to the site over the weekend. Some said the mud was up to their knees and one hip young patron said it was "one big bad trip." (UPI TELEPHOTO)

FESTIVAL BOUND — A young rock fan walks past a car trunk — full of music lovers who had spent the night on a highway stalled by a mammoth traffic jam more than 18 miles from their goal, the Aquarian rock festival. The multitudes at the festival area created what officials termed "a disaster scene." (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Has Ideas on Restoring Cuts If More State Money Is Found

ALBANY, N. Y. (UPI) — If there is any additional money in next year's state budget, Assembly Speaker Perry B. Duryea has some pretty definite ideas on where to spend it—on restoring cuts in education aid and some welfare programs.

Duryea told newsmen Tuesday he is "optimistic" there will be more money than expected available in the governor's budget next year. He said he sees indications that President Nixon's revenue sharing program may run ahead of anticipations.

Duryea is the first state Republican leader to talk of spending more money next year at a time when most political leaders are still talking in terms of further cutbacks.

"The situation looks a lot better than three months ago, mainly because of the attitude of the Nixon administration," Duryea said. The speaker added he would join with legislative leaders in other industrial states in an effort to get Nixon's tax sharing program started in time for next year.

Duryea's statements were in sharp contrast to comments by Governor Rockefeller only two weeks ago. Rockefeller said flatly the "cupboard is bare" in terms of providing more welfare and education aid, and added the state would have another "tight" budget next year.

Duryea said more education aid would be "high on the list of priorities" if more money is found.

"The pattern of school budget defeats around the state indicate the real property taxes have reached their limits," Duryea said. "I think we must look in this direction if more money is available."

On the subject of welfare, the speaker said he would like to see some restoration—about $2 million—in programs of aid to the blind, aged and disabled.

He said when these programs were cut this year, the legislature "was aware of the impact but wasn't aware of it in such dramatic terms as we have seen in recent weeks."

He added he did not place the aid to dependent children program, which is the main welfare program in the state, on as high a priority ranking as education aid to the blind, aged and disabled.

Duryea said he also favored a continuation of some form of special state aid to cities. The state's $52 million -a- year program of special urban aid will expire next year if it is not extended by the legislature.

"The state has an obligation here in making an effort to help cities with their special problems," he said.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, AUGUST 20, 1969

Widening the Gap

Dialogue between the generations was not advanced by the new youth "culture" exhibited at the Woodstock Music and Art Fair at Bethel, Sullivan County, over the past weekend. Without passing moral judgment on the "hippies," their attitudes and social standards didn't impress the "Establishment."

Incomprehensible was the flagrant violation by the thousands who smoked, inhaled or otherwise ingested drugs in their many forms. Other behavioral acts didn't enhance the "public personality" of these individuals. Some of the capers were by exhibitionists. Therefore, this is not a blanket charge, condemning one and all alike. For if we measure behavior in terms of consideration for others, then many of the young people deserve praise. The thoughtfulness and kindness displayed to others who needed care gave evidence of their unselfishness and sensitivity.

Many of the young folks showed a higher motivation than the promoters, planners and officials who selected the site and failed to make adequate provision for the health and safety of the young patrons and also those who took advantage of them by charging excessively for food and water. This is deplorable. Here again, other town folks recognizing their plight made thousands of sandwiches and offered water to the hungry and thirsty youngsters. Doctors and nurses also rushed to the scene to give of their professional services.

The services and concern of these good people impressed the youngsters, who despite the hardships and disappointments, were pleasant and courteous.

Callous concern by professional promoters only stirs further protests by many of these young people who are intelligent, highly motivated young people, who care deeply about the welfare of others and who love their "music."

Modest Congress Reform

In answer to rising sentiment for reform in House machinery, a joint committee to streamline Congress was set up four years ago. The bill it produced, bypassing such radical or basic issues as ending the seniority system or the filibuster, passed the Senate but died in the House Rules committee.

Three months ago, the House Rules committee appointed a subcommittee headed by Rep. B. F. Sisk, California Democrat, to make another try in response to demands for action. Sisk's problem is to produce a bill that would not offend enough members to kill it again.

Some progress has been achieved. Tentatively, the committee has agreed to provide professional staffs for minority members of committees, to give minority members the right to call witnesses of their choosing, and to give them at least three days to write minority reports. These were courtesies usually accorded minority members, but they would become mandatory if written into the rules. Other tentative agreements are of the same innocuous brand. That is how slowly reform and progress is achieved in the organization and conduct of Congress. The war on seniority and privilege is almost perennial but the senior members are too well established and shut off the attacks as often as they are launched.

ICC Overhaul Overdue

President Nixon's call for an overhaul of the Interstate Commerce Commission was overdue. The agency supervising rail, truck, pipeline and inland waterway operators is one of the most cumbersome and sluggish in the federal structure.

One anachronism the President intends to eliminate is the ICC's tradition of rotating the chairmanship each year among its 11 members. The practice has hampered efforts to promote continuity and leadership.

Another defect Mr. Nixon is reportedly studying is the agency's unwieldy size. Its membership could be trimmed to five or seven, so decisions can be reached more quickly and policy can be given more centralized direction.

In two decades of steady deterioration of the nation's rail service, the ICC has been conspicuously slow to react to the need for developing guidelines on what vital parts of the network should be saved. The public interest would be better served by a revitalized agency, able to anticipate trends and act decisively.

A group of Boston businessmen have established a scholarship fund to perpetuate the memory of Mary Jo Kopechne, the secretary who died in the auto accident that involved Senator Edward M. Kennedy. Miss Kopechne was graduated from Caldwell College for Women in New Jersey in 1962. The scholarship will be awarded by her college.

The allied occupying powers—the United States, Britain and France—have reaffirmed that West Berlin citizens may not be drafted for military service by West Germany. But they authorized West Berlin to extradite West German army deserters and draft dodgers. West Berlin no longer can be a sanctuary for West German youth.

"Arise!"

David Lawrence Says President Can Meditate At Summer White House

WASHINGTON — The "western White House" in San Clemente, California, is in the news these days. It is novel only in a geographical sense, as the "summer White House" idea has been adopted by presidents for more than a half-century. And it isn't just the climate which causes the Chief Executive to pick a place away from the national capital, for, at times, Washington has provided better weather than other locations.

The real reason for a separate abode is that the White House is not a comfortable dwelling for family life. Also, since the executive offices are right next door, the flow of visitors is continuous, and some of them have letters from persons of influence in their states who find it difficult to refuse to write a letter of introduction for friends.

Then there are the pressures from officialdom. A president's absence at a vacation spot, however, is usually respected. Only on the most urgent business of a member of Congress or a high official are engagements made.

Mr. Nixon may find the need for important conferences not much less in California than in Washington. But any vacation home is a vast improvement over life in the White House where the rooms are large and more adapted to ceremonials than to restful seclusion.

A president doesn't cease to be a human being when he takes up residence in the White House, and he wants informality and a lawn outside where he and his wife can walk without intrusion by crowds.

President Theodore Roosevelt used to go in the summer to Oyster Bay, New York, and President Taft went to seacoast places in New England, as did Presidents Coolidge and Kennedy. President Franklin D. Roosevelt had a home in Hyde Park, New York, where he spent intervals during the year as well as in Warm Springs, Georgia. President Truman went for winter vacations to Key West, Florida. President Eisenhower flew back and forth often to Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, and in the winter to a golfing haven in Georgia.

Perhaps the most alluring place for a weekend or more of vacation is the country home in the Blue Ridge Mountains known as "Rapiden," which was selected by President Hoover. A similar place in western Maryland was chosen by President Eisenhower. President Wilson found it difficult to be away because of the outbreak of World War I in 1914, but later on had a summer house at Long Branch, New Jersey, and also at Cornish, New Hampshire.

Presidents nowadays can stay away more from the White House. Communication facilities are better, and a president can get back by air from California, for instance, in half a day. The staffs in Washington and at a summer White House are in constant communication either by teletype or telephone. They have machines which can transmit and receive facsimiles of original documents or letters in a matter of minutes.

The tasks of a chief executive have increased considerably, so President Nixon persuaded some of his cabinet officers to rent homes near the "western White House" in California. This is an innovation, but, considering the world situation and the need for intimate talks on domestic matters, the idea is a good one. Although the Congress is in recess for three weeks and the President doesn't have to hold conferences with leaders of either house, he keeps in communication with them by telephone.

Perhaps the luckiest president so far as vacation spots are concerned was Lyndon Johnson, who used his big ranch in Texas as a place to see important persons from abroad as well as from our own country. Most of the guests liked it.

Not all presidents are fortunate enough to own big ranches, but Mr. Nixon has managed to set up an equivalent "summer White House" in California along the Pacific Ocean and a winter home in Florida along the Atlantic Ocean.

Why so much time for "rest"? The truth is a president is busy every day no matter where he is. But at a vacation home he does get a chance to think alone — and he has less opportunity in the edifice known as the White House than at a coast resort where he can stroll along the seashore and meditate.

Liberty Magazine assigned him to write an article about a priest and the cleric said he wouldn't talk to an apostate. So Eddie agreed to return to the Catholic Church. He wondered why he hadn't thought of it before. Mildred Frisby Doherty died in 1939, and Eddie was alone once more. A few years later, he met the Russian baroness Catherine de Hueck, a charitable woman who founded Friendship House to feed and clothe the poor.

He quit newspaperdom and married the baroness. Together, they founded Madonna House, which trains social workers to help the poor of the world. Eddie and the baroness took vows of poverty, chastity and obedience, and agreed 20 years ago to live as brother and sister. To raise money, Eddie wrote a score of books in that smooth sensitive style for which he was famous.

Father Joseph Raya, a Melkite priest of the Eastern Catholic Church, was so impressed with Eddie's work that he said: "If I were a bishop, I'd ordain you." Today, Father Raya is Archbishop of Haifa and All Galilee. Last Friday in Nazareth, the city where Jesus grew, Eddie became Father Edward Doherty. He is 78.

His son awaits him in New York. All he wants to say is: "My father is a priest" and duck...

Drew Pearson Says Pieces to Green Beret Murder Puzzle Falling Into Place

WASHINGTON — The missing pieces are beginning to fall into place in the Green Beret murder mystery. The puzzle is not that a Vietnamese double agent was knocked off but that the Americans did their own dirty work. In other cases, the South Vietnamese have been the triggermen.

Allied security and special forces, including the Green Berets, carry wanted lists of Viet Cong Agents. The names are carefully culled from captured documents, prisoner interrogations and other intelligence sources.

Any agents who are picked up, however, are supposed to be turned over to the South Vietnamese. Usually, they are charged with treason and brought before the South Vietnamese courts. A number have been beaten the rap and have been released for lack of evidence.

However, some agents are considered too dangerous to trust to the judicial processes and are secretly marked for elimination. The executions are carried out quietly by the South Vietnamese, but their American accomplices would be held guilty in any U.S. court of accessory to murder.

There is no reliable estimate of how many victims have been murdered by official order. The American obsession for counting bodies on the battlefield doesn't extend to assassination victims. Insiders have told this column only that "dozens" of dangerous agents have been bumped off.

The South Vietnamese have tended to grudge murders a little indiscriminately in carrying out these executions. Some have tried to settle old grudges by planting the names of their personal enemies on the execution list. The Americans, at least, have done their best to discourage this and to be more selective in choosing who should be "eliminated."

Ruthless Communists

The South Vietnamese aren't as ruthless, it should be added, as the Communists who have been systematically torturing, terrorizing and murdering government sympathizers for years. As fast as the North Vietnamese seized a neighborhood in the battle for Hue, for instance, Communist execution squads went from door to door with clipboards checking off the names of those selected for execution.

Unlike the allies who consider it necessary to kill only key enemy agents, the Communists have slaughtered the entire families of government sympathizers. The number brutally murdered in Hue — some buried alive in mass graves — is now figured at 3,000.

The Communists have found murder an effective method of eliminating opposition and controlling the countryside. Finally last year General Creighton Abrams, the American commander in Vietnam, decided to adopt the enemy's own tactics, in part, to combat the infiltrators, agitators and agents who form the Communist infrastructure inside South Vietnam.

He organized "operation Phoenix," which has been effective in detecting fifth columnists and destroying their underground apparatus. This has severely handicapped the North Vietnamese in their attempts to mount another Tet-like offensive against South Vietnam's cities.

Advisers

The Americans, Green Beret victim however, have acted merely as advisers to the South Vietnamese who have moved in to make actual arrests and upon occasion, to eliminate a dangerous agent without the nicety of a trial. It was only the direct involvement of Americans that made the alleged Green Beret killing unique. What happened, according to intelligence sources, is that a Vietnamese agent named Chu Ven Thai Khac was caught selling out the Americans.

He belonged to an intelligence ring that was funded by the Central Intelligence Agency through an import-export front. All the while, he was a double agent for the North Vietnamese and passed on intelligence about the "grey ghosts" who watch the infiltration routes and spy on North Vietnamese troop movements on both sides of the Laotian and Cambodian borders.

Khac's treachery brought detection and death to a number of "grey ghosts," who take their nickname from the grey clothes they wear on their daring intelligence patrols. Khac was incriminated when the Green Berets got hold of some captured photographs showing him talking to North Vietnamese intelligence agents.

The Green Berets asked the CIA what they should do with Khac and got back an oral suggestion that they get rid of him. It was stressed that the recommendation was strictly unofficial.

Rescinded Too Late

Possibly, the CIA expected the Green Berets to turn Khac over to the South Vietnamese for quiet disposal in the accustomed manner. Khac, however, had been working with a spy ring that operated right in the Presidential Palace. The Green Berets may have been apprehensive because of a personal, awkward relationship with South Vietnam's President Thieu. When the CIA learned from additional conversations that the Green Berets intended to handle the execution themselves, the "unofficial" suggestion was hastily rescinded. But it came too late; Khac had already been disposed of.

Under the Army's unwritten rules, it's permissible to be an accessory to the murder of enemy agents, apparently, but it's a crime to participate directly in an execution.

Armstrong

Sculptress Alba Hicks, who has been commissioned to prepare the bust of Neil Armstrong that he'll present to the museum his home town is erecting in his honor, was restricted to only 30 minutes alone with him. So she brought along a polaroid camera and fidgeted amateurishly with it to capture the views she wanted on his face.

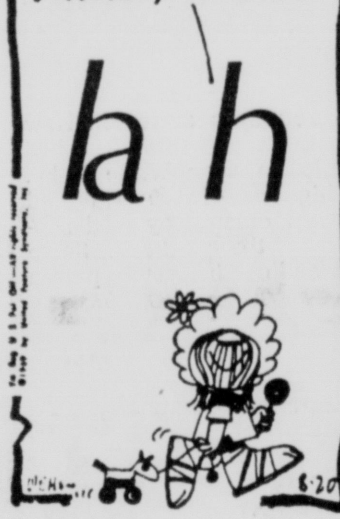

The moon explorer confessed that he, too, was awkward with a camera. NASA had to attach a yellow piece of paper to the camera he used on the moon, he said, so he would adjust the lens and aperture properly.

Note: Mrs. Hicks told Armstrong that his small home town of Wapakoneta, Ohio, would never be the same since he put it on the map. She predicted that the town was going to grow.

"Yeah," agreed Armstrong dryly, "from 7,000 to 7,002."

Ho Rests Hope of Victory On Opinion of U.S. Public

By RAY CROMLEY

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) —

Strangely enough, by a most curious type of logic, men high in the administration now believe that if we assume Hanoi will not make an agreement, and therefore we prepare for an endless war, and if Hanoi can become convinced that we are indeed planning to go on forever, then, and only then, will Hanoi be prepared to negotiate in earnest.

It is for that reason that both in Saigon and in Washington, military-political analysts are watching with the most careful attention the autumn 1969 plans for student-youth antiwar demonstrations in the United States.

It is a major reason for the gradual withdrawal of U.S. troops.

It is behind the strong words of praise President Nixon had for President Thieu during his visit to Saigon.

Administration analysts here and in Saigon believe we are winning the war in Vietnam. Ho Chi Minh also faces growing problems at home. Under normal circumstances, they believe, Hanoi therefore could be expected to negotiate, except for one thing. Captured documents and intercepted Hanoi radio broadcasts make it clear he expects to win in Washington. As in the war with France, Ho counts on public opinion to force an American pullout at any price.

That is, if Ho believes American public opinion against the war is rising to dangerous levels, as in the last days of the Johnson administration, he need only wait awhile to win.

But, or so the theory runs, if Ho believes Nixon has public opinion under control, then he will negotiate, because in North and South Vietnam his situation is growing steadily worse.

Thus the watch on the demonstrations. If they are large and effective and attract a good deal of public sympathy, Hanoi may be further convinced Nixon cannot hold out for long. If the demonstrations fumble, the analysts reason, Ho might rethink.

So far as is now known, there are four crucial dates upcoming, in addition to the recent Hiroshima-Nagasaki Week demonstrations held Aug. 3 to 9:

October 11 — The Students for a Democratic Society and the Black Panthers plan a major Chicago demonstration in sympathy with eight activists indicted for their part in last year's riots at the Democratic national convention.

October 15 — Students previously associated with the 1968 McCarthy presidential campaign plan a nationwide student school shutdown.

November 14 — The National Student Mobilization Committee plans a nationwide student strike to "Bring all our GIs home now."

Many Want Slower Pace In School Desegregation

PRINCETON, N.J., Aug. 16—Twice as many Americans interviewed in a recent Gallup survey say that racial integration of schools is going "too fast" as say the rate is "not fast enough."

Persons who have attended college, however, are more likely to say "not fast enough" than to give the opposite opinion.

Taking the views of all persons, 44 per cent say the racial integration of schools is going "too fast," 22 per cent say "not fast enough," and 34 per cent say "just about right."

fast enough," 25 per cent say "about right" and 9 per cent do not express an opinion.

Interviewing in the survey was conducted July 11 through 14, a week after the Nixon administration of the rigid deadlines on school desegregation set by the Johnson Administration. However, Administration officials have emphasized that few exceptions to the Johnson timetable are expected. At the time of the survey interviewing, a total of 121 school districts already had been cut off from federal aid for failing to desegregate.

Many Fear Racial Strife

The opinion that racial integration in schools is going "too fast" derives in large measure from a fear of racial strife. A young housewife in the survey commented, "People can't accept integration too quickly. If it's pushed, trouble breaks out."

A male office worker had this to say, "I'm not against school integration, but when it involves drastic changes such as the bussing of kids all over town and changes in the racial balance of schools, I'm opposed. A gradual approach will keep things from getting out of hand."

One of those who thinks racial integration is not going fast enough is a Pennsylvania mother of three: "Integration should have begun much sooner. We have a lot of catching up to do."

Another survey respondent remarked, "School integration should be speeded up, but it must be accompanied by major efforts to change prevailing attitudes against integration."

The following question was asked of a national sample of 1517 adults, selected to be representative of the total adult population:

What is your opinion — do you think the racial integration of schools in the United States is going too fast or not fast enough?

Negroes, as might be expected, tend strongly to the view that racial integration in schools is moving too slowly, but it is interesting to note that as many as one Negro in five thinks the rate is "too fast."

Here are the results, nationally and by race, education and region.

Racial Integration of U. S. Schools?

Issue Depends On Parents

Key to the success or failure of the government's desegregation efforts is the willingness of white parents to send their children to schools with Negroes. In the last survey, white parents were asked if they would object to sending their children to a school where more than half are Negroes, where half are Negroes, where a few are Negroes. The same series of questions was also asked of white parents in Gallup surveys conducted in 1966, 1965 and 1963.

A majority of white parents in the North today (54 per cent) say they would object to sending their children to a school where more than half are Negroes, and a mere 7 per cent say they would object to sending their children to a school where only a few of the children are Negroes.

Opposition is considerably greater in the South. For example, one fifth of Southern white parents (21 per cent) say they would object to sending their children to a school where only a few are Negroes. However, opposition to school desegregation has declined dramatically in the South since 1963.

Here are the survey questions and results, with the trend:

Support Appreciated

Editor, The Freeman:
Each community has its sincere, dedicated and hard working members who unselfishly give countless hours of time and effort for the benefit of all. One of these groups is the Centerville and Cedar Grove Fire Co. Bazaar Committee. These people have worked tirelessly for many days and nights so that the 6th annual bazaar could become our very best and they have succeeded beyond our fondest expectations.

Fabulous, stupendous and colossal are words which do not adequately describe our latest Building Fund effort and this very effort could never have been accomplished without these wonderful people for they donated so much to such a worthy cause.

How could we possibly by-pass the long suffering and most considerate wives and neighbors of the Centerville Fire Co. Auxiliary?

Headed by Louis Sperl they served the public with the most delicious food and refreshments through this four day affair. To us we say thanks a million ladies.

The police did a superb job in maintaining an orderly flow of traffic on Route 212.

We are so very grateful for the entertainment furnished us by Mike Schovel, (what a performer) both on the stage and in the dunking booth; the Count Three for their splendid renditions of country music; The Kingston Judo Club; The Left Footers Dancing Club and The Summer Heats, a local Rock group.

And now together we say to one and all and to each other a sincere and hearty thank you for a job well done.

This is a reply to Councilman Turner's letter published in The Kingston Freeman, August 11, 1969: As you pointed out, George, there are many things to be seriously considered about 1959, 474,000 of the three million the land fill offer. I have no Russian Jews declared Yiddish quarrel with you on that score their mother tongue; many others consider it a second language. The figure is extraordinary when one realizes that no claims he has no knowledge of formal Yiddish instruction how the public was invited" — been permitted in the USSR if you will read page six of since the '40s. Jews, especially the younger generation, over-flow auditoriums when the infrequent Yiddish "concerts"—a number of aged actors—are performed. The small editions of Yiddish books (none from 1948-1959, and only a dozen since) are eagerly snapped up, as is the sole Yiddish journal now published. Yet even under Stalin in the '30s, hundreds of books and scores of magazines were published.

Rocky, Nixon Part Company Over Federal Welfare Plan

By CHARLES DUMAS

Associated Press Writer

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — To veteran observers at New York's State Capitol, it looks as though the honeymoon between Gov. Rockefeller and President Nixon has come to an end.

As might be expected, the falling out came on a subject that has plagued otherwise happy couples from time immemorial — money.

The trouble had been brewing for several weeks. There were signs of the bickering, behind the scenes.

But the problem did not burst into the open until last weekend, when Nixon finally announced his long-awaited plan for revamping the federal government's welfare program.

Within 48 hours, Rockefeller publicly denounced the President's brainchild as "disappointing and inadequate." The prestigious New York Times featured the governor's attack on page one, saying that Rockefeller had accused Nixon of "shortchanging" New York and other industrial states.

The same term, when used by New York's Mayor John

V. Lindsay to protest Rockefeller's state aid policies, invariably sets the governor's teeth on edge.

There was no immediate reaction from Nixon, but the assumption is that Nixon will not enjoy Rockefeller's critique anymore than Rockefeller has enjoyed Lindsay's sniping.

In this case, Rockefeller and Lindsay find themselves on the same side of the argument. Both had been agitating for massive increases in federal aid — Rockefeller hoping to ease his state budget pinch and Lindsay sorely in need of coin for his city treasury.

Rockefeller was the more conspicuous loser of the two, however, since the governor had made an all-out appeal to Nixon, going so far as to present his views at a special conference in the White last winter.

What Rockefeller proposed was a full federal takeover of welfare expenditures, phased over the next three years. The upshot would be to relieve New York of the $1.1 billion it now spends annually for this purpose.

What he got instead was a

Nixon program that would increase federal help to New York by an estimated $40 million in the first year — a far cry from Rockefeller's objective.

Up to this point, relations between Rockefeller and the new president, once most bitter of political rivals, had been notably harmonious. The governor had supported Nixon at every turn, carefully refraining from anything that sounded like criticism.

It was duly noted by all observers that Rockefeller responded readily to Nixon's request to head a fact-finding mission to Latin America, to explore the impact of U. S. policies. The governor took considerable abuse from anti-American elements south of the border but bore it stoically, explaining that he was doing his best for his country and his president.

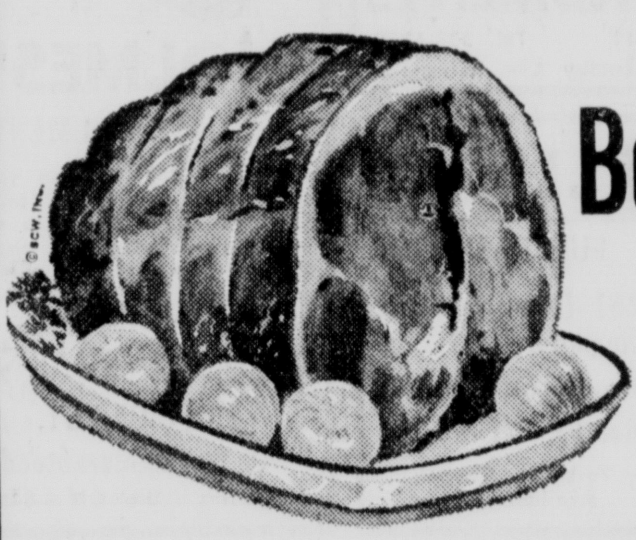

Persons close to Rockefeller said he hoped Nixon would reciprocate by conceding to the governor's views on welfare. Rockefeller did not expect to win the whole loaf but maybe half.

He figures now that he didn't even get a full slice, and he's very unhappy.

If suspension of the sentence is not granted, the cadets may still appeal the decision of the court. But Moss indicated that if the preliminary application for release is denied by Spanish government officials then it is doubtful that the appeal will be successful.

Vincent Carey, father of the West Shokan cadet, said he is still in the dark as to what has happened in Spain. Meanwhile, the offices of Senators Charles Goodell and Jacob Javits, along with Rep. Hamilton Fish Jr., are keeping close watch on the proceedings in Madrid.

Reports Car Stolen

Frederick Bechtold of 3 Parkside Drive, Lake Katrine, complained to police today that his yellow and black car had been stolen from a lot off East Chester Street. The registration of the car is 11-11 UL, police said.

Man Arrested After Mishap

KINGSTON — A 24-year-old Connelly man was arrested early today on a charge of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle, which was involved in a hit-and-run accident on Broadway, according to police.

Robert T. Chapple, of Box 1, Connelly, was held in $500 bail pending disposition of the case in City Court.

Police received a complaint Tuesday night that a car had struck a parked vehicle owned by Robert C. King in front of 456 Broadway and left the scene. The hit-and-run vehicle was later found abandoned on West O'Reilly Street and it was later learned the car was owned by Ralph W. Mergendahl Sr., of 127 Prospect Street, who told authorities someone took the vehicle from the driveway at his home.

At 12:40 a.m. Deputy Sheriffs Gerald Miller and Stephen Rosenstein investigated a complaint from a woman that a man was lying on the porch of her home in Connelly. They reportedly found Chapple and after noticing blood on the man, the deputies took him to headquarters for questioning.

Chapple was subsequently turned over to city police for booking on the charge of unlawful use of a motor vehicle.

Two Charged With Burglary

TOWN OF ESOPUS — Two Orange County men were arrested Tuesday afternoon by Highland State Police on charges of third degree burglary after they allegedly entered the residence of I. Foster Van Stone in West Park.

Troopers booked Alvin Followell, 22, and Patrick O'Brien, 21, who said they reside at the Hotel Washington, 90 Grand Street, Newburgh. The men were arraigned before Town Justice John O. Beaver who ordered them held in $1,000 bail each pending a hearing Thursday.

According to authorities, Van Stone saw two men in the vicinity of his home at about 4 p.m. yesterday, and later he learned that the house had been entered through a side window. Van Stone notified troopers and BCI Investigator Roger Gardiner and Troopers G. P. Rebhan and Jerre Henne investigated.

Followell and O'Brien were later picked up for questioning and booked for burglary third degree. The information charges that the pair entered the residence with intent to commit larceny.

To Spend Less

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Reserve Board says many of the nation's 200 largest corporations are planning to spend slightly less the rest of this year on expanding plants and new equipment. The FRB said Tuesday an informal survey showed most firms will spend about the same amount in 1970 as in 1969 on plants and equipment. An exception was utilities, which have increased their capital outlays for both the remainder of 1969 and 1970.

List Special Features For Uptown Walking Tour

KINGSTON Special features of the August guided walking tour will include displays at two modern stores in the Old Stockade area.

History is the theme of the tours which step off 2 p.m. the third Thursday, May through October, from in front of the Governor Clinton Hotel. The tours of the Old Stockade area, which is now a main business district, point out topographical architectural and cultural features preserved during the three centuries since settlement.

The special displays will center on published histories of the area and a pharmaceutical exhibit of historic medicine manufacturing tools.

The two exhibits will be on display throughout this week—the books at O'Reilly's Stationery store on John Street and the century-old drug store paraphernalia at Dedrick's Pharmacy Inc., Wall Street.

The book display was compiled through the cooperation of the Kingston area Library and the stationery store and includes the four histories of the City of Kingston, reference books and more recent publications which have county history scope.

A scholar pursuing more specialized research may find documents, records and clippings in the library of the Senate House Museum of even more interest. Some out of print volumes are available at the Kingston Area Library.

The collection of old prescriptions and drug store utensils is considered one of the most valuable of its kind in the state. Anthony Hickey and David Van Etten, present owners of the store which has been in continuous operation since 1870, arranged the display.

For those interested in earlier and more primitive treatment of illnesses, the herb garden at the Senate House has such plants as rosemary, the smoke and vapor of which was thought to cure the air in time of plague. Parsley leaves to "lay to the eyes that are swollen to give a much ease," and rue to sprinkle against the "spells of witchcraft."

The tours are free and no advance registration is necessary. They are the cooperative educational project of Friends of Historic Kingston, The Daughters of American Revolution, Old Dutch Church and the Senate House. The latter is a New York State Historic Site.

Further information about the tours may be obtained from Mrs. Allan L. Hanstein.

GOP Will Nominate Seven Candidates For Town Offices on Saturday Night

SAUGERTIES are they well informed, Catalinotto continued, but they also bring a fresh approach to politics and an attitude which is not influenced by political cynicism. Lachmann said he was pleased by the interest of Republican women in the affairs of their party.

McCaig also announced that the convention is open to the public. Those who are interested in observing the process by which candidates are selected, are invited to attend, he said.

Among the committees appointed by Town Chairman McCaig, the subcommittee on nominations has been proceeding in the area of most interest.

The committee chaired by Lachmann and comprised of Frank Ferracane, Frank Short, Robert Schirmer, Calvin Cody, John Rivenberg and Henry Hartley gives the Republican Party an advantage not available in previous years. The committee brings together men with political experience and new interested individuals who are willing to contribute their time and effort. Their main interest is to offer a slate of qualified candidates who will give Saugerties government of the people, by the people and for the people.

In discussing the qualifications for each position with persons throughout the event, Chairman McCaig said he was able to recommend candidates to fit a particular office. The Republican Party wants all offices filled by men or women of calm thought and who do not become emotionally upset by the pressures of local government.

The results of the work of this committee on nominations may well strike a new and beneficial note in the administration of local government. The major beneficiaries will be the citizens of Saugerties, McCaig said.

Sawkill Vols Plan Bazaar

Dem Chairman Predicts Some November Victories

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON — "I won't concede one Republican victory in the November city election," a confident Aaron Klein told The Freeman this week. The Democratic County chairman also foresees a number of county legislator victories, something the Democrat Party sorely needs to correct the present lop-sided 28-5 GOP margin in the legislature.

Klein, who was county chairman from 1963-67 and was re-elected to the post just two months ago, feels the city ticket is strong and will receive even greater support than in the past years due to an increased party enrollment.

In the county, Klein commenting on the small five-man Democratic side of the aisle, noted that there is unit among the men. "In smallness they hang together." The remark is also meant as a comparison to the Republican legislators who have had more than their share of diverse opinions on any number of subjects.

Klein, who is also a former city judge, anticipates a Democratic win in District 7 which takes in Rosendale and Esopus and he feels that the Town of Wawarsing is ripe to vote Democratic again, especially in view of its former supervisor, George Barthel being on the ticket.

"Bob Smith and Burton Marshall have an excellent chance of election in District 11," Klein suggested, adding that he feels Shandaken and Olive. Woodstock Democratic Chair stock is in District 12.

man John Bonilla will also make a good showing. District

(Shawangunk, Plattekill, Marlborough and Lloyd), Klein stated that if a good campaign were waged, John Gaffney, who "has a tremendous record as a county representative," could be is carrying out one of his ma-injected. Gaffney is former minor campaign promises—to revive the executive committee.

Good workers are being re-crutted and the no-work talkers are being weeded out.

Plans are underway for working on programs of financing without having fund-raising become burdensome. Instead, of one or two large fund projects,

a number of small neighborhood types of fund raisers will be implemented such as penny socials, card parties, auctions and family get-togethers.

One large affair is planned

however and that is the annual dinner to be held at the Granit

Hotel, Oct. 12 with the name of a prominent speaker to be disclosed at a later date.

Klein said he is also working on plans for a party periodical which, he expects, will be published after election. Right now,

he commented, he wants to place all his energies in one main direction—the November campaign.

When involved in his own candidacy for the chairmanship, also now joining forces with him

Klein said he felt that in the

in a show of unity, Klein said, past few years a number of

Democrats have been staying in the background and that his election would bring them forward again.

Asked if this was happening and if some of the supporters of his former opponent were also now joining forces with him

Klein said, "yes," that he is encouraged in that direction. He revealed that a number of persons have come forward to offer their services and to accept new responsibility.

Inquest on Death Would Determine Legal Cause

EDGARTOWN, Mass. (AP) —

The inquest that opens on Sept.

3 into the death of Mary Jo Ko-pechne is a long-established way in Massachusetts law to determine the legal cause of death, as distinct from the medical cause.

What can the inquest hope to accomplish?

In the words of one former prosecutor, "An inquest . . . is used to clear the air and close the books publicly on a case

about which questions have arisen."

Miss Kopechne, 28, a Washington, D.C. secretary, was killed July 18 when a car driven by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts went off a bridge

into a pond on Chappaquiddick

Island. The accident went unreported for nine hours.

There is no accused at an inquest and no prosecution and defense as such.

They point out that the atmosphere at an inquest is less rigid than at a trial. Evidence, presented solely by the district attorney, is known to wander oc-asionally into types of testimony that the defense would successfully object to at a trial.

Said one assistant district attorney, "The judge may interrupt and say, 'That's 'oo far afraid,' but it's not the fine control you have in a trial where you have prosecution and defense.

"The prosecutor has no part in the determination. At the conclusion, he does not get up and argue a case."

After all the evidence is in, the judge files a written report determining his findings, step by step, and giving his conclusion.

The determination might be of suicide or of accidental death or of homicide or of some lesser legal finding such as negligence.

The theme of this year's pageant will be Come Waltz With Me and will be produced by Joseph Bosco Jr., who said the sets for the pageant show will be the best in the 14 year history of the event which started in 1956 as the Miss Saugerties Pageant.

In addition to a performance of Miss Knight, the 1969 queen, there will be performances by outstanding entertainers round out the pageant show. Harriet Hansen, who is Wendy Ward director and fashion coordinator for Metro District Montgomery Ward stores in the Hudson Valley will be mistress of ceremonies, and Samuel Tesoriero, a member of Saugerties High School faculty and house, will be master of ceremonies.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks opened higher today in moderate trading.

There was little in the news budget to inspire traders, and some feeling existed that the time may be near for a downward correction. The market has advanced for four straight sessions, during which the Dow Jones industrial average moved up about 75 points. One analyst commented that "it is not unreasonable to expect some profit taking at this point." On the other side of the coin some analysts felt that the rally may have a bit further to go before peaking out.

DWI Charged To Highland Man

TOWN OF ESOPUS — While on night patrol along Route 9W Tuesday, state police arrested Leonard Rizzo, 53, of Riverside Road, Highland, on a charge of driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated. Troopers C. J. Bebenese and J. E. Hornbeck arraigned Rizzo before Esopus town Justice John O. Beaver, who released the man on $40 bail and adjourned hearing until Sept. 12. Troopers said Rizzo submitted to a blood test at Vassar Hospital.

Undergraduate Visitors Leave for U.S. Tour

NEW PALTZ — A group of 38 Japanese undergraduate students recently left the campus at State University, New Paltz, after attending a month of classes on the English language and American culture under the auspices of the Council on International Education Exchange.

The visitors, one of 12 groups of Japanese students attending similar seminars in the United States this summer, are now in Lake Mohonk and Minneapaska, and the Vanderbilt and touring major cities for four weeks before returning to their own universities in Japan.

Chest Parade Given Approval By Saugerties

SAUGERTIES — Officials of the Ulster County Community Chest were given approval by village trustees for a "kick off" parade in the village for the start of the annual fund drive of the chest.

Nathan Aaron and Thomas Beckert of the chest campaign said the parade would be held on Sept. 13 at 11 a.m., and invited village officials to attend.

Five appointments were made to community fire departments at the meeting of the village trustees this week. G. H. Warringer, Angelo Staccio Jr. and James Shier were named to the membership in the Washington Hook and Ladder Company while Warren Dunn and John Freligh were named to the C. A. Lynch Company.

Blacktop was said to have been placed on North Road, leading into the village dump, according to the street department report.

At New Paltz the students lived on campus with American roommates. Each visitor also was the guest of two Mid-Hudson residents whom they visited and dined with during the four-week period here. The students also visited Kingston, Poughkeepsie, Newburgh, Boscawen, Roosevelt estates at Hyde Park.

During their tour of the United States, the visitors will stay with American families in Oklahoma City and Oakland, Calif. They also will visit Washington, D. C., St. Louis, Albuquerque, Flagstaff and Los Angeles.

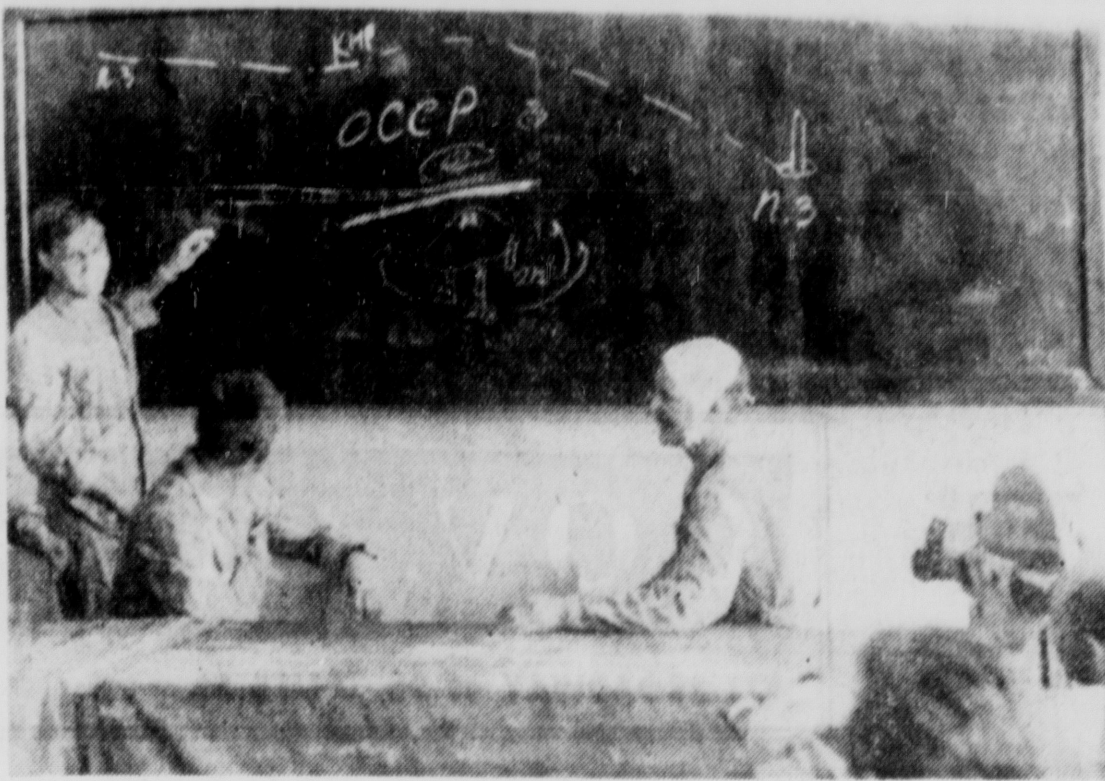

Dr. Alfred Marks, professor of English at New Paltz, and a specialist in the Japanese language, was coordinator of the visit here. He was assisted by Dr. Morgan Jones and students Robert Casper and Doug Agor in the language instruction and by assistant professor Henry Urbanski in the language laboratory. Dennis Listort, a graduate student at New Paltz, aided in the classroom in American culture.

County Vols Press For Training Area

TOWN OF ULSTER — A proposal for the establishment of a permanent county firemen's training center will be given increased emphasis in the coming months and a study committee was named Tuesday night for renewed action on the project.

Newly installed President Earl Martin of Saugerties named John Mahoney of Spring Lake; Dennis Crookston of Rosendale and Carroll Kimble of Saugerties to the committee. The group will meet with the Fire Advisory Board of the County Legislature to determine if such a training center could be established on a portion of county property. In earlier discussions sites at Golden Hill, Kingston and at the County Farm in New Paltz were being considered.

Morton Finch of Kingston was reelected chairman of the County Vols Board of Directors at a special session prior to the county meeting.

A rising vote of thanks was accorded past President Martin Petersen for the "most successful vols convention." Vols Secretary Fred C. Harder reported 30 companies were represented at the meeting with approximately 100 in attendance.

Joseph Briody, a member of the Inter-County Relations Committee announced that the officers and members were invited to the Orange County Volunteer Firemen's Association convention Sept. 18 to 20 at Camp Redwood, Route 52 and

Green Beret Lawyers Predict Dismissal

LONG BINH, Vietnam (UPI) S. C., another civilian lawyer, agreed. "We are happy with the way the case is going," he said. "The investigators have no evidence of anything."

Sources close to the case said the only witness who will be called Thursday will be another CIA agent. His testimony will take no more than two hours, the sources said.

The eight Green Berets including the commander of all Special Forces troops in Vietnam, Col. Robert Rheault of Vineyard Haven, Mass., were suspected of planning and carrying out the murder of a Vietnamese on June 20.

Gregory had previously said the victim was a Communist double agent working for the CIA whose death may have saved thousands of American lives.

Insects or other organisms transporting germs or other agents of disease are called vectors.

Rothblatt, an unofficial spokesman for the eight Green Berets, predicted a brief session Thursday morning would end with the government proposing the case be dropped. He said the formal paperwork for any such dismissal might take up to three days.

Asks Transplant Heart Return To Donor's Body

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (UPI)—The widow of Clive Haupt, the colored millhand whose heart was transplanted to Dr. Philip Blaiberg, wants the heart returned.

"I don't want it preserved in a bottle," Mrs. Dorothy Haupt said Tuesday. "I want to make sure the heart is properly buried. I am not going to rest until I get back my husband's heart."

Doctors planning to cut apart the heart for a study by the world's medical experts declined comment.

Dr. Christiaan Barnard, who performed the surgery that enabled Blaiberg to live longer than any other heart transplant patient until his death Sunday, said dissection of the heart would provide study at medical institutions all over the world.

Mrs. Haupt said when she asked about the heart at Groote Schuur Hospital, staff members told her to come back next week.

"At this stage I have no comment to make," said Dr. James G. Thompson, chief pathologist at the hospital.

Haupt, 24, died after a stroke suffered at a beach at False Bay in Cape Town Jan. 1, 1968.

Observers Express Fear Of More Mideast Fighting

By United Press International

Western diplomats in Cairo said today they feared more fighting was about to erupt along the Suez Canal between Israeli and Egyptian troops.

Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad Tuesday night told a United Nations committee investigating Arab charges of Israeli atrocities in occupied territories that his country had cleared more than 500,000 civilians from the Suez Canal area since 1967 to protect them from Israeli attack.

The diplomats in Cairo said what at least in part prompted their reaction was Tuesday's Israeli air raid on Port Tewfik and El Adabiya on the canal.

Egypt said its anti-aircraft guns shot down four Israeli planes. In Tel Aviv, Israeli spokesmen said one plane was downed and its pilot captured.

Three Arab guerrillas were killed by an Israeli army patrol Monday night while trying to cross the Jordan into Israeli occupied west bank. Three Israelis were wounded in the encounter at the Mandassa Bridge.

Israel said it had approached the Egyptian government through the International Red Cross to find out what happened to the downed Israeli

UNIQUE HOTEL — Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr., seated right, talks with senior citizens in Highland after having inspected "Applewood," a senior citizen residential hotel, unique in its concept of having been privately thought of and privately financed. Scores Government Shirking On Local Project Assistance

POUGHKEEPSIE — Can you imagine going to your bank for a loan, meeting the banker's conditions and then having him say, "here is just one small thing I forgot to tell you — there isn't any money." Using this example, Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr. is certain that "if this occurred on a regular basis, it is doubtful if the American public's confidence in their banks would be as high as it is today."

"Yet," he adds, "This is exactly what happens every day with your federal government. A state and local community starts a federally created program with the understanding that the federal share of the cost will be a stated amount. Yet, when the program is established, the criteria met, Uncle Sam blandly says: 'Sorry, no money.'"

Fish said that although he objects to this federal habit of "big promise and little production," in every instance he feels the federal government is shirking of its financial responsibilities under the Clean Water Restoration Act of 1966 is reaching dangerous proportions.

Under the 1966 Act, water quality standards were established as well as a schedule of federal financial assistance to states and local communities which met these standards and adhered to the federal criteria. States and local communities entered the program, a timetable was set to meet these standards, and then the federal government never bothered to meet its financial obligations under the Act.

In 1969, $700 million was authorized, but only $214 million was appropriated. For 1970, under the original authorization, $1 billion was set as the federal share. But the appropriation request for 1970 remains at only $214 million. Nor is this federal financial back off unique in 1969 and 1970, it is just getting bigger. In 1966, appropriations lagged behind authorizations by only $9 million, but with projects entering the construction phase, in 1970 the gap widens to $789 million.

"Now I happen to be fully aware of budgetary problems. But by shirking its financial responsibility in this area, the federal government is throwing the burden right where it hurts the worst, on the over-taxed property owner in our towns and villages."

"What difference would full federal funding make? Under the Clean Water Restoration Act, the federal government is authorized to pay 50 per cent, and in some instances 55 per cent of sewage plant construction costs. But due to the federal shortchanging of the program they started, in New York State the federal share is only 30 per cent, with the State paying 30 per cent and the local municipality picking up a full 40 per cent.

"This means that if a sewage plant were to cost $1 million, the federal share now (advanced from New York's $1 billion bond issue) is $300,000 the state's authorized share is $300,000 while the local community ends up paying $400,000. "With proper federal funding, the local taxpayers' cost on the same million dollar plant would be only $200,000 or $150,000 depending upon whether the locality is eligible for 50 or 55 per cent federal assistance. "For these reasons I have written Rep. George Mahon, chairman of the Appropriations Committee, urging the appropriation of the full authorized $1 billion for fiscal 1970.

A Black Panther Chieftain Charged With Torture Death

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — FBI agents arrested Bobby Seale, national chairman of the Black Panther Party Tuesday night on a fugitive warrant charging flight from a murder charge in the torture killing of a former Black Panther in New Haven, Conn.

Seale, 32, was surrounded and taken into custody without resistance as he rode in an automobile with other members of the militant Negro organization in the nearby university city of Berkeley.

Charles W. Bates, FBI agent in charge for the San Francisco area, said Seale is charged in Connecticut with murder and kidnapping in the death of Alex Rackley of New York, a former party member whose burned and mutilated body was found in a shallow river 20 miles from New Haven last May.

The federal warrant charges unlawful flight to avoid prosecution. Rackley died May 21, shortly after the arrest in New York of 21 Panthers in what police said was a plot to blow up buildings. His death followed a "kangaroo court" trial, New Haven police said, in which he was believed to have been accused of disloyalty to the party.

FBI agents brought Seale to San Francisco County Jail pending an arraignment before U.S. Commissioner Richard Goldsmith.

In New Haven, Police Chief James Ahern said a Superior Court warrant issued Tuesday also charges Seale with conspiracy to commit murder and conspiracy to commit kidnapping. Fourteen other persons have been arrested in connection with the Rackley slaying.

Bates declined to say how many FBI agents took part in Seale's capture near the University of California.

However, Raymond M. Hewitt, a Panther who was in the Seale car, declared there were "at least 50" agents, all heavily armed.

The Panther party was founded by Seale and Huey Newton, who is now serving a term for manslaughter in the killing of an Oakland policeman.

Seale is on three year's probation for carrying a gun near the Oakland Hall of Justice on May 12, 1961.

Seek Identity Of Dead Man

KERHONKSON — State and county authorities are hopeful of establishing the identity of a man's decomposed body which was found on a farm near this community Sunday evening.

Ulster County Coroner Arthur C. Chipp is working on the case with State Police BCI officers from Ellenville. Howard Terwilliger discovered the body on the Golden Markle farm.

Rhinebeck Country School Has Small College Atmosphere

By TIM SCHUSTER

RHINEBECK
A self-authored plaque hangs on the wall above Leonard Zneimer's desk at Rhinebeck Country School.

It reads: "Have confidence in human nature, tempered with a tolerant understanding of human frailties."

"I look at it once in a while when I need it, and it helps me along," says the mild-mannered director of the school for the slow and borderline child. One hundred children, 60 boys and 40 girls, presently reap the benefits of that homily.

The physical impact made upon the visitor of the well-groomed grounds and handsome buildings reminds one of a small college or a country club. The property was once part of the John Jacob Astor estate, and more recently a portion of the Anderson School in Staatsburg. About 140 acres of land, with fieldstone buildings, a athletic field, and a new swimming pool provide the "specialized setting" for those limited in intellectual development.

Not Very Different

Zneimer's philosophy in conducting the school for the past 15 years is "not very different from other residential treatment centers, but we really involve ourselves with the children," he said to The Freeman. "The important ingredient is a great amount of warmth and tender loving care," he said. This is accomplished by treating every child as an individual, without categorizing. A staff of 35 persons, making one adult available for every three children, admirably serves this purpose.

The words to an old song, "Accentuate the positive, eliminate the negative," might be used to describe the attitude taken to rehabilitate the slow learners for a productive place in society.

"This is known as reinforcement therapy," explained the director. "Many of these children have experienced years of frustration and defeat, contributing in some cases to emotional maladjustment."

This program is implemented through a series of "grades" applied by academic teachers, vocational teachers, and supervisors. Public recognition for positive progress or good grades is given in the dining hall.

"We naturally have a structure, but with flexibility," noted Zneimer, whose wife Erna is assistant director. "Reward and motivation are the significant elements here, rather than rigidity."

The 100 residents vary in age from a low of six years to early adulthood. Children of normal intelligence, whose problems fall into the category of anti-social, anti-authoritarian, rebellion are generally not accepted. Also excluded because of the nature of the school and its limited size are those children whose long range goals are purely custodial, who are disturbingly psychotic, with severe acting-out behavior problems, or children with gross physical handicaps. Most in attendance are adolescents.

Educational Institution

"This institution is not for life care, but rather educational," emphasized Zneimer. "We prefer not to keep persons past the age of 21. We hope to prepare these children for limited independence and possible employment."

At present, three boys are employed part-time by Northern Dutchess Hospital in Rhinebeck, and all others follow training programs in such diverse areas as woodwork, homemaking, groundskeeping, animal husbandry, office training, an help out in the kitchen, laundry, and care of the grounds.

We asked Zneimer at what of a flower presented by a young girl in the true spirit of giving.

According to Zneimer, psychological intelligence tests have not improved at any appreciable rate during the past 25 years. "The most widely used is the Wechsler; and the slightly modified Stanford-Binet was originated about 50 years ago. I feel that many important aspects of intelligence cannot be measured by any test, although a standard test in conjunction with projective tests such as the Rorschach, in the hands of a specialist, can be very indicative."

Zneimer's son Edward has recently joined the organization after completing his PhD in psychology at Washington University in St. Louis. The younger Zneimer will be director of clinical services. Dr. Leon Steinman is consulting psychiatrist for Rhinebeck Country School.

While problems are inherent in teaching the semi-educable, the director also felt that those at the other end of the scale, the "high IQs," can have similar problems in adjusting to society. "The thinkers are not always the doers," he said, "and it is the hardworker who effects necessary change."

The director said that social skills, getting along with others and projecting a friendliness, were often more prevalent in the mildly retarded than in the persons with average intelligence, and a brief tour of the grounds showed that this certainly was the case. Bethel Residents Seek Answers

WHITE LAKE, N.Y. (AP)—Residents who bore the brunt of last weekend's invasion by 400,000 rock music fans say they want to know who issued the permit for the three-day festival—and why.

Joseph Lynch, owner of Island Glen Country Club on Route 17B, said a special permit needed to operate the festival had never been granted by the Bethel Zoning Board of Appeals and that the Town Supervisors and the Board of Health had issued permits that did not take into consideration the vast crowds. "Sanitary facilities were completely inadequate," Lynch said. "The Board of Health made a complete mockery of the health code. The whole town was left without police and fire protection."

He said many of the community residents were joining forces to make the Bethel Town Board "come up with answers" about the permits.

Olive Dems Caucus Slated For Saturday

OLIVE
Town of Olive Democratic Club will hold a caucus Saturday at 8 p.m. at the Olivebridge Firehouse, according to Mrs. Mae Steen, secretary. At that time nominations for candidates for the Nov. 4 election will be received.

Clarence W. Townsend, a dairy farmer, said milk trucks could not get to his farm because of the jam.

"The boys just milked the cows and then dumped the milk over the side," he said. "This is our livelihood. We couldn't put the cows out because of the traffic."

"My pond is a swamp," said farmer Royden Gabriele. "I've got no fences and they used my field as a latrine. They picked corn and camped all over the place. They just landed wherever they could. We had to be up around the clock to watch them."

A number of persons were reported planning to take legal action against the town board for damages.

American Indians Conference On Unity Changes to New Site

TONAWANDA RESERVATION, N.Y. (AP) — American Indians from throughout the continent move their unit conference to the capital of the Iroquois Confederacy today amidst activity in many areas of the country concerning the fate of the Indian.

The representatives of the approximately 45 tribes meeting here are working to spread among tribes a desire to shun the white man's world and return to individual cultures.

The meeting began Saturday on the land of the Tonawanda band of Senecas, Keepers of the Western Door for the more than 450-year-old Iroquois League. It has been aimed at unifying the tribes against what they say are policies forced on them by the government in general and the Bureau of Indian Affairs in particular.

"The only way to save ourselves is not to run to Washington or Ottawa," Wallace (Mad Bear) Anderson, a leader of the Tuscaroras, told the representatives.

"Let us go back to our own values and government," he said. "We are not trying to look for equality among the white men. We are looking for our own way of life."

The white man telling the Indian how to use his land has been the problem, Mad Bear said. "It is a white man problem, not an Indian problem."

At the same time, Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has been meeting with administration officials at Lake Tahoe, Calif., on Indian problems.

Critic Ralph Nader called that meeting "both a symbol and a symptom of the white man's treatment and degradation of the first Americans."

Nader told the vice president by telegram the small number of Indians at the Lake Tahoe meeting was disappointing.

On Tuesday, Dr. Edward Cahn, director of an organization called Citizens Advocate Center released a portion of a new study to be published in the fall.

In a background report, Cahn said that studies of Indian problems have been made since 1926 without substantial advances being made against poverty, hunger, overcrowding and ignorance.

The eight worse localities where hunger is paramount in the country have predominantly Indian populations, his report said.

He also pointed out an extremely high infant mortality rate and a reduced life span among the Indians of the country as compared to the white population.

Mad Bear said the Indian's answer to his fate does not lie with handouts the white man may give him, but with a return to the Indian culture as protector of the land.

Cite Long Island Fireman At State Vols Convention

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — An award to a Long Island fireman who rescued two comrades and a letter of apology for harassment of some Japanese visitors highlighted Tuesday's session of the state volunteer firemen's convention.

Calvin "Jake" Parris, a 36-year member of the Patchogue Volunteer Fire Department, was named fireman of the year for 1968.

Hurley Bazaar Opens Aug. 21 For Recreation

The annual bazaar of Hurley Recreation Association opens Thursday 6:15 p.m. at Hurley Firehouse and will continue through Saturday with evenings of games, rides, refreshments, cotton candy for the kiddies and good old fashioned fun.

The Expo '70 group arranged private guard service for the remainder of their 41-city U.S. and Canadian tour.

The incidents occurred at a downtown hotel. Outside the hotel, officials said, pranksters threw soap powder into a fountain and caused a sudsy mess that took city workers several hours to clean up.

Copies of the apologetic letter were to go to Sedita, the Japanese Consulate in New York City and Japan Air Line, sponsor of the Expo '70 exhibit, a convention spokesman said.

These were the words of the co-chairmen, Paul Markle and Jack Schroeder, who said they would like to make this a very successful bazaar both financially and socially but said it depends on the cooperation and support of the association members.

The displays will include a specialty booth, home canned fruits, vegetables, preserves, pickles and relishes, home baked cakes, cookies and other items.

Jack Jordan is president of the association and may be contacted for further information.

Questions and Answers

Q—How often does a wig need to be cleaned?

A—Every four to twelve weeks. It depends on how often you wear it and how much hair spray you use.

Q—How long will a wig set last?

A—A wig set will last several times longer than your own hair set, because it doesn't get slept on and has no natural oils to flatten and soil it.

Hints from Heloise

By HELOISE CRUISE

Dear Heloise:
Did you know that if you throw a yard or so of nylon net into your dryer when you put your wet clothes in (dark net for dark clothes, white net with the light things) that there's no more lint on anything?

Mrs. E. Girkins
Mrs. Firkins, I tried it and was pleased as punch with the results! That old lint clings to the net like crazy.

You're a dreamboat for giving us this hint.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:
To make mashed potatoes taste richer and creamier without adding calories, I add some non-dairy coffee creamer to the potatoes. The more you add the creamier they taste.

Dear Heloise:
My three children are all under five years of age. Lately, I can never find their shoelaces, as they always take them out of their shoes and leave them everywhere.

I found out that if I bought longer laces and laced the shoes all the way up, then tied a knot on the end of each lace, my searching was over.

As the knots won't go through the top holes, I never have any more trouble finding those elusive laces. They stay put!

Mrs. Pearson

Dear Heloise:
I wondered why Heloise never shared by time-saving tips with all her other friends.

Then I discovered them sitting like little soldiers in my letter holder!

Mrs. H. Forsberg

Dear Heloise:
You always have such hot ideas for us. I thought I'd give you an ice cold one for a change! Especially if you've ever struggled with a girdle on a hot, sticky morning.

My answer is to put it in the icebox when you go to bed. It's a real cool way to start the day.

M. J.

Dear Heloise:
I have the solution to washing eye make-up off thoroughly without irritating my eyes or getting creams in them.

I use a no-tear baby shampoo.

Just pour a little on a washcloth and scrub away.

I use a plastic bottle with a small hole at the top which works neatly for squeezing out just the right amount.

There's no tell-tale shadow under my eyes the next morning and I can wash the underside of my lashes without fear of irritation.

LIBOVE — LUGOVOY

Liboves in Maverick

The team of Charles Libove and Nina Lugovoy, members of the Philharmonia Trio, will be featured Sunday afternoon at 3 in Maverick Hall in Woodstock.

The couple, who are Mr. and Mrs. Libove in private life and reside in Shady, N.Y., will give a concert of violin and piano duos. Mr. Libove is also the directing violinist of the famous Beaux Arts Quartet.

The Liboves appeared at Maverick on the occasion of its Golden Anniversary Year.

Charles Libove, violinist, was born in New York City. A student at Curtis Institute and Juilliard School of Music, he studied with Lea Luboshutz. Invited in 1954 to participate in the Casals Festival, Libove was awarded the Laureate Prize at the Enesco Festival in Bucharest in 1958. Before joining the Beaux Arts as first violin, he was a member of the Paganini Quartet. He toured extensively in the United States and throughout the world and was in residence at the Spoleto Festival in Italy. For the last month, he and his wife took part in the Strathford Festival at Ontario Canada, from which they have just returned.

Nina Lugovoy, the incredible pianist, is well remembered by her performances every season and for her playing in the Golden Anniversary series. She has performed in many solo concerts as well as with Mr. Libove in sonata recitals. Her tour with the Philharmonia Trio last winter and spring throughout the United States was a resounding success.

The Liboves and Trio are in residence at State University College in Potsdam. For Sunday's concert they will play works by Kreisler, Beethoven, Bach and Richard Strauss.

In addition to a performance of Miss Knight, the 1969 queen, there will be performances by outstanding entertainers rounding out the pageant show.

Harriet Hansen, who is Wendy Ward director and fashion coordinator for Metro District Montgomery Ward stores in the Hudson valley will be mistress of ceremonies, and Samuel Tesoriero, a member of Saugerties High school faculty and known locally for his dramatic roles with the Coach House Players, will be master of ceremonies.

The contestants include Katherine Hancock, Lynn Merch and Vicki Williams, all

That Greek Goddess Look

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Can sun-bathing in Nutley, N.J., give a girl a tan that looks as though she's been basking under the sun in Greece? It can if it's done properly.

Every summer would be tanned beauties flock to the beach, blankets in hand, and wait for the sun to transform pale, white bodies into glowing, bronze bodies. And too often what they get instead is red, freckled, peeling skin.

Sitting in the sun, baking an arm for 10 minutes, frying a leg for an hour, broiling a shoulder for an afternoon is no way to get a tan.

Start with the basics: Evaluate your skin type and expose yourself to the sun accordingly. If your skin is fair and sensitive to the sun, limited exposure is a must.

But even with limited exposure, a tan needs help to achieve a Greek Isles look. The help comes from a good suntanning lotion. First, the lotion protects the skin from burning and, secondly, it moisturizes the skin and prevents it from drying out.

Suntan lotion should be applied evenly and should be reapplied after swimming. There's no more lethal drying combination than sun and salt water.

If there's anything that looks worse than a peeling sunburn, it's a peeling tan. It can leave your skin blotchy and mottled-looking through the winter months.

Once you've achieved a

Tanning with a Greek flair is aided by using an effective tanning lotion. The sun worshiper here wears a swimsuit by Lanvin.

"bronzed look," the best way to keep it is to apply an after-sun moisturizing lotion — it will keep skin soft and peel-free.

Apply moisturizing lotion after a bath or shower, or before going to bed. It will leave you looking and feeling like a Greek goddess — and that's no myth.

State Art-Home Center Opens August 26

The Art and Home Center is almost ready for the opening of the New York State Fair on August 26.

One of the highlights of the women's building which was seen during the preview on Sunday, August 17, was the Food Demonstration Kitchen. In this area, visitors take a jet trip around the world of foods seeing the specialties of France, Greece, Mexico and the Orient made before their eyes.

Before each demonstration, the decor of the kitchen changes, making the atmosphere representative of the country whose foods are being featured at that time. This is done through the use of different cabinet doors, panels and utensils.

The all-gas kitchen, which is sponsored by the Consolidated Gas Supply Corporation for the eighth year, has a large mirror over the preparation table, enabling Fairgoers to watch the movements of the demonstrators as they prepare their specialties.

Rudolph Stanish, the "Omelet King" who serves as chef for Goldman Sachs Investment Company, served his famous crepes at the Preview. He will be demonstrating French, Greek and Oriental delicacies during the first three days of the Fair, August 26 to August 28.

The kitchen and its surrounding areas were designed with the modern homemaker in mind. A children's play center has been built, with ample room for books and games. Behind this is a woman's planning area featuring reading material of interest to the modern woman.

Another part of the Art and Home Center previewed was the graphics exhibition. Over 700 entries were received from residents of 32 states.

Of these, 90 were chosen for the Graphics 1969 Exhibition. There are also 25 prints by internationally known artists on display.

Some of the Fair exhibitors had their booths ready for the preview, giving an idea of the diversity which can be found at the Fair. Among these was the exhibit sponsored by the New York State Department of Commerce. This booth entitled "Money-Go-Round for Young Marrieds" offers consumer information to help young couples make the many buying decisions that face them.

Also previewed was an exhibit designed to save homemakers many weary hours in the kitchen. Sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Home Economics Division of the New York State College of Home Economics, the booth shows visitors how to measure their elbow heights as the first step in determining working areas which are most comfortable and efficient for each individual.

Fair visitors then learn how to find the proper height for kitchen surfaces such as counters, sink rims and cooking surfaces of ranges. The exhibit is entitled "Make Your Kitchen Fit You" and it will be staffed by Extension Home Economists from 14 New York State counties during the Fair.

All this and more is awaiting your inspection at the New York State Fair. Exhibits and buildings will be open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. during the Fair Week, August 26 to September 1.

"Horses by Brock"

Brock in Lewis Gallery

A totally new exhibition of recent paintings and drawings by Brock opens today at the Lewis Gallery, Route 212 across from the Playhouse in Woodstock. The show will be on view after today's opening through Aug. 24.

Included in the exhibit will be a broad range of subjects, typical of this talented artist's scope. Among the featured works will be many of the lovely landscapes for which Brock has received acclaim, as well as nudes, horses and still lifes.

Brock, a long time resident of the Shady section of Woodstock works in a centuries-old farmhouse and studio there. Over the years, his work has been exhibited at the prestigious Upper Grosvenor Gallery in London, England; at the U.S.I.A. Gallery, also in London; at the Albany Institute of History and Art (where he has also taught); and in many other exhibits both in this country and abroad.

A native of Cornwall, England, Brock spent much of his early life in India. Later, he studied painting in such cities as London, Paris and Antwerp. For him, however, the various styles he practiced proved unrewarding. Discarding cubism, among others, he eventually evolved a highly personal style of objectivism which has been the recipient of high praise from art critics in the U.S. and in Europe.

Those familiar with his work know his paintings reveal in life and in all living things, while revealing a grace and lyricism unmatched in some of the more mechanical approaches to art currently in vogue. Attesting to his attraction is the fact that followers of Brock's work return to the Lewis Gallery for each new exhibit, an annual feature of Woodstock's summer season. Through this coterie of faithful fans, the artist's name and praise for the excellence of his work have spread across several continents. Today, his paintings are to be found in many noted personal collections.

Unwilling to follow passing trends, Brock is one of the few artists who has kept his individual voice. His touch is that of a poet with a brush rather than a mechanic with rough tools.

Perhaps the one outstanding trait of Brock's style is the humanism it reveals. He shows his discontent with useless turmoil by concentrating on a gentle but vigorous realization of life. This is reflected in his paintings of animals and his portraits of people. He has painted many Woodstock residents at play or in repose or at work, and his landscapes capture the flavor of this entire area.

Still, those who know Brock's work from previous showings in the area know, too, that with each successive exhibit, his deepening involvement and progression in style are noticeable. In short, Brock is an artist of thorough professionalism and high maturity... and any exhibit of his is a welcome event.

Viewing hours for the Brock show at the Lewis Gallery are 1 to 5 p. m. daily and 8 to 10 p. m. Fridays and Saturdays.

It Was a Night of Miracle Catches

(By The Associated Press) This is the story of a couple of miraculous catches—or, if you prefer other adjectives, "amazing," according to Hank Aaron, and "sensational" according to Tommie Agee.

Aaron and Agee were spectators to the first one by Chicago's Billy Williams and the second by Cleon Jones of the New York Mets.

Williams backed against the left field fence in Chicago's Wrigley Field and leaped as the 16-mile per hour wind wafted Aaron's home run bid into his hands. The catch preserved Ken Holtzman's masterpiece as the Chicago Cubs' left hander no hit Atlanta 3-0.

Jones, playing left center field in a four-man outfield shift by the Mets against San Francisco's Willie McCovey, raced to the wall, leaped high with his glove outstretched and pulled down the bid for a homer in the 13th inning. Agee's homer in the 13th later gave the Mets their 1-0 victory over the Giants.

Elsewhere in the National League Tuesday, San Diego edged Montreal 5-4, Los Angeles shut out Philadelphia 2-0, Pittsburgh dropped Houston 5-1 and Cincinnati whipped St. Louis 8-4. In the American League, Minnesota defeated Boston 8-6, Washington tripped Chicago 3-1, New York downed Kansas City 5-1, Cleveland blanked Oakland 3-0, Baltimore walloped California 1-0 and Detroit whipped Seattle 5-3.

Holtzman, who pitched the fifth no-hitter of the major league season, received spectacular fielding support from the rear hit gave the Mets their victory over the Giants.

But it was Jones' catch in the seventh that saved the Mets. Manager Gil Hodges used three infielders against the Mets' ace, stationing third base on the left and the left fielder, Jones, on the right. Jones was pulled over to left center and took McCovey's shot off the alltime list, has hit enough homers to know one "I was just amazed," he said. "I just couldn't believe it when that ball came down inside the park. After I hit it, I knew it was gone and started my home run trot around the bases."

Aaron's home run trot was halted by Williams' catch but Ron Santo got to finish his. Santo poled a three-run homer in the first accounting for all the Cubs' runs.

Report Keyes Is Canada-Bound

READING, Pa. (UPI)—Contract talks between the Philadelphia Eagles and their No. 1 draft choice, Purdue All-American Leroy Keyes, broke off Tuesday when Keyes reportedly went to seek a better deal with a Canadian Football League club.

Eagle General Manager Pete Retzlaff said Keyes' representative, attorney Arthur Morse of Chicago, told him he would not telephone the Eagles again.

Keyes was said to be seeking a $225,000 package and the Eagles were reportedly offering a $175,000 deal. According to Retzlaff, the Eagles offer is more than the heralded O. J. Simpson, the top major college player last year, received from the Buffalo Bills.

Retzlaff said he talked by telephone Monday with Keyes and Morse, but that conversation ended with a rejection of the Eagles' latest contract proposal.

After talking with Retzlaff, Keyes and his manager reportedly journeyed to Canada to discuss an offer with an unidentified CFL team.

THE TALL ONES: Wilt Chamberlain of the Los Angeles Lakers looks surprised as he watches rookie Lou Alcindor of the Milwaukee Bucks soar into the air for a shot during the 11th annual Maurice Stokes benefit game at Kutsher's Country Club in Monticello last night. It was the first confrontation between the two giants of professional basketball. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Wilt Is MVP; Lew Dunks 14

MONTICELLO, N.Y. (UPI)—Lew Alcindor brought out the best in Wilt Chamberlain Tuesday night.

For 25 minutes Alcindor, the rookie, battled the veteran Chamberlain on even terms in the 11th annual Maurice Stokes All-Star benefit game at Kutsher's Country Club. Red Auerbach's team edged Gene Shue's squad 80-79 as Willis Reed of the New York Knicks sank two free throws with three seconds left.

Playing for Auerbach, Alcindor, the million dollar All-American from UCLA and property of the Milwaukee Bucks, had Chamberlain hustling with an aggressiveness the Los Angeles Laker center

Droulette A 2-Hitter

KINGSTON Mike Droulette limited the American Legion to two hits and fanned six to lead Kingston Patrolmen's Association to a 11-0 victory in the Babe Ruth League.

KPA needed only seven hits off the combined slants of Dave Brandon and Nick Scott for the easy win. They scored six runs in the second inning and got at least a run in three other frames.

Gary Ennis and Glenn Howard collected two hits each for KPA, with Howard knocking in two runs. One of the two Legends hits was a triple by John Carter. The other was a single by Scott, who took the loss.

Brassiereless Look Appears New Trend

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — There's a new front in women's revolution for freedom.

Legions of young ladies are turning toward the brassiereless look to give them more freedom of movement.

Evidently it has caught on along Atlantic City's famed Boardwalk—a showplace for displaying new fashion trends.

"Bras are a real pain," grumbled Christine Young, 17, of Philadelphia.

"They're too binding. But school. Going without them is so when you wear a 40D, you have to wear them sometimes," she said.

An 18-year-old floor girl at a Boardwalk auction, Judy Goldberg of Levittown, Pa., said she hated brassieres. "I hardly ever wear one."

Cynthia Dimon, a 21-year-old Ohio Western University student who wears high-waisted brassiereless dresses on her summer job as a newspaper reporter, explained:

"It's a habit I picked up at much airier and less confining." Bernice Caapaldo, a 22-year-old Paterson, N.J. high school teacher, acknowledged what was apparent as she window-shopped.

"Whenever possible, I never wear a bra. I put one on only when I really dress up. I'm inhibited without one then."

Kathy Pasterczyk, 16, of Pittsfield, Pa., confided that she feels "awfully stuffy" in bras.

The girls admitted to owning brassieres but preferred to stash them in a closet.

But not all the girls approve of the trend.

Cathy Meighan, a 21-year-old nightclub waitress, wants no part of the ban the bra movement.

"I don't know too many guys who go for the flat-chested look," she stated.

Despite it all, store clerks at lingerie counters maintain that droopy fashions haven't harmed sales curves.

Business, they claim is as big as ever.

Claims Trudeau Struck Him at Protest Rally

VANCOUVER, (AP) — A high school dropout, nervously rubbing his nose, said under oath Tuesday that Prime Minister Trudeau hit him during an anti-Vietnam war demonstration here Aug. 8.

Richard Bruce Jesmer, 17, a laborer from Niagara Falls, Ont., was testifying in support of the complaint he swore out here Aug. 11, charging Mr. Trudeau with common assault.

Justice of the Peace Don Stewart later reserved decision until Friday as to whether he considers the charge should be proceeded with and whether Mr. Trudeau should be brought here to face it in court.

Jesmer, testifying at a preliminary hearing to determine if there is evidence enough for a case of common assault, said

Mr. Trudeau hit him after he called the prime minister "a creep."

"It was," said Jesmer, demonstrating a straight-arm blow, "a cross between a push and a punch." He said it was delivered with an open palm.

Sub-Insp. Victor G. P. Irving, in charge of security for the prime minister, said he was close to Mr. Trudeau at the time of the alleged assault and did not see Mr. Trudeau hit anyone.

Finally John Henry Cramer, 21, tired of his sanctuary.

He surfaced to buy some groceries and was spotted by a neighbor as he climbed down a ladder to his subterranean home, officers said.

Cramer is now in the Lancaster County prison in default of $6,000 bail. Police said the well was 16 feet long and 8 feet wide.

Robbery Suspect Hid in Dry Well For Three Weeks

LANCASTER, Pa., (AP) — A man wanted on a charge of robbing a gas station hid three weeks in a 12-foot deep dry well.

During the night he shot rabbits and ground hogs with a bow and arrow and cooked the meat on a kerosene stove in the well, police said.

Finally John Henry Cramer, 21, tired of his sanctuary.

He surfaced to buy some groceries and was spotted by a neighbor as he climbed down a ladder to his subterranean home, officers said.

Cramer is now in the Lancaster County prison in default of $6,000 bail. Police said the well was 16 feet long and 8 feet wide.

More Widowers on TV Screen

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — There will soon be twice as many widowers as widows on television. She will, however, marry Mike Brady, widower with three children, in the first episode.

Barbara Harper, a widowed school teacher with a little girl, will finally catch the elusive head of the "My Three Sons" family, but not until about two months after the series resumes in September.

There will be four widowed newcomers: "Marcus Welby, M.D.," the father of three in "To Rome, with Love," the chief executive of "The Governor and J.J.," and the man in the title role of "The Courtship of Eddie's Father."

Television characters are never casually assigned marital status. Often it is a device on which the series is hung. Half the fun of "Family Affair" springs from the way that two dedicated bachelors—master and servant—try to bring up three children.

Sometimes it is a way of bringing children into shows—and appealing children often work magic with ratings.

Sometimes, too, a widower is created to give a series more flexibility: E. G. Marshall, playing Lawrence Preston in the pilot film of the late "Defenders," had a wife. She was quietly dispatched, in the interests of simplifying scripts, before the series began.

Happiest bride of the new season has to be Beverly Garland, who, as Fred MacMurray's new spouse, will join the "My Three Sons" family, as Mrs. Harper, widow.

Miss Garland, in private life the wife of a nonprofessional actor and mother of two, has been married on television before. When she heard that "My Three Sons" was casting a wife for Stephen Douglas—MacMurray's role—she asked her agent to suggest her.

"Personally I had some reservations about whether anything would come of it," she confessed, "but after Fred had talked with me about it, he chose me."

Miss Garland said keeping busy is important to her and her family. "Acting is an extension of my life, and because of it I find myself able to function better in my most important roles: wife, mother," she said. "Fortunately my husband understands that too."

Better Recreation Looms in Woodstock

By TOBIE GEERTSEMA

WOODSTOCK — Prospects for more and better recreation in Woodstock loomed today in view of developments which occurred at Tuesday night's monthly Town Board meeting.

After seeing two of his resolutions aimed at increasing recreation die at the July board meeting for lack of a second, Town Justice Edgar C. Leaycraft tried again Tuesday. This time around, two recreational program resolutions and another involving historic landmarks met with the approval of his colleagues.

Leaycraft, the lone Democrat on the board, proposed that the Town Board request the Woodstock Recreation Committee to develop a complete summer recreation program for all Woodstock children from six to 18. He outlined the committee's job as "estimating realistically the cost of such a program," and set a deadline of Sept. 30 for submission of the proposed program and cost estimate. Such a deadline would be necessary if the board is to consider the program for inclusion in the 1970 town budget.

Leaycraft's motive for the resolution resided in the fact that Woodstock's present recreation program is geared only to children between the ages of six and 12, with the exception of a swimming program at the commercially operated Swim-O-Links for those from 12 to 18.

When Councilman Mervin Doremus seconded the resolution, it was passed unanimously by the board, with all members present except vacationing Town Justice Rudolf C. Baumgarten.

A second resolution proposing that the Town Board request the Recreation Committee to develop plans and cost estimates for the opening of recreational facilities at Big Deep, Mallory Grove and California Quarry, also passed unanimously, after a second by Councilman Arthur MacDaniel. The board had closed all three areas this summer because Chief Constable William Waterous had insisted "no adequate control was possible."

In offering his resolution, Leaycraft pointed out the three areas "represent vital recreational facilities for the use of all residents of Woodstock," and proposed they again be made available to the public "on a controlled basis."

As in the case of the first resolution, the second also called for the Recreation Committee to develop plans and cost estimates for the opening of each of the three areas under controlled conditions for the summer of 1970. The committee is expected to submit plans and cost to the Town Board by Sept. 30 for consideration in the preparation of the 1970 town budget.

Leaycraft's final resolution of the night obviously stemmed from the fact that he also serves as Woodstock's Town Historian. He proposed that the Town Board appoint a Historic Landmark Commission of five members to "identify and prepare plans to protect" those structures, sites or hamlets in the art colony which "best exemplify the varied past of the town." He saw the commission as consisting of the town historian and other persons knowledgeable about the town's history.

Initial duties of the commission would be to prepare a plan to implement the resolution, under State Law, and to propose regulations for protecting historic sites in Woodstock. The plan and its accompanying regulations should be in the hands of the board by Nov. 1, Leaycraft suggested.

Towns have been empowered under State Law to enact protective legislation for historic sites and buildings and Leaycraft, noting that Woodstock's history goes back to 1787, urged that the many buildings and sites "remaining from Woodstock's past should be preserved for future generations."

A second by Councilman Mervin Doremus paved the way for the unanimous passage of this resolution.

The prompt passage of the three resolutions might well have been based in part on their short term planning. Leaycraft's unsuccessful resolution on recreation in July had been based on long-term planning over the next 10 years. Supervisor Milton Houst explained Tuesday night that he felt the July resolution had not received a second because, in essence, it would have "been creating a different committee." Since the town already has a functioning recreation committee, some board members evidently saw no need to name a second group to work on the same problems confronting the first and, in some respects, "overruling" the present group.

Nirenberg Declines, Raps GOP Leaders

By BRUCE KAUFMAN

ELLENVILLE — In a statement, which sounded more like a challenge than a declination, Ellenville attorney, Alex Nirenberg, announced that he will not accept the Democratic nomination for the post of Town of Wawarsing supervisor.

Nirenberg's statement conveyed in a letter to Joseph Stoekeler, chairman of the new Wawarsing Democratic Party, puts an end to rumors that the peppery Ellenville attorney will challenge incumbent supervisor, Frank Harkin, in the election, this coming November.

However, accompanying his cordial decline, Nirenberg included an attack on the Republican leadership in this southern Ulster County township.

He said that "everyone knows that we in this area for years have been treated as the Republican Step-children of Ulster County," and that "we are paying a terrible price for having been under a Republican-controlled Town Board for more than a decade."

"It's our own fault," the statement continues, "we have put ourselves in the 'Republican pocket' by continuously electing nice guys who are afraid to speak back to the Republican leadership in Kingston and Albany."

Nirenberg, who has been active in the Democratic Party over the years, has held a number of political posts in the area, and has also served on the Ellenville Board of Education.

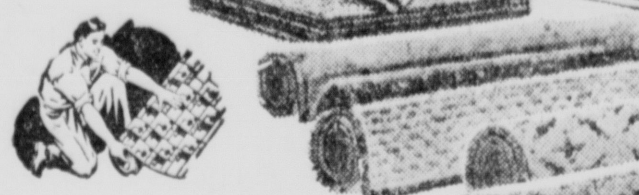

He was mentioned as a possible candidate for the supervisor post in an announcement last week issued by party chairman Stoekeler.

However, in his letter to Stoekeler, Nirenberg explained that "other men the party was considering, can fill the bill more efficiently than I," adding that he would be happy to "work for and support any supervisor candidate and his tide which has engulfed our team to change the Republican community."
